'Zoo Without Bars' Aids Environment

By LYNN MULVANEY
MARBLETOWN

A proposal to construct a "zoo without bars" deep in the woods of Marbletown, which was at first greeted with considerable skepticism by town officials and some residents of the area, is now being welcomed as an asset to our ecological environment.

The suspended cable structure, is unique not only because a woman is building it but because it makes use of fiber glass fabric drawn taut over 20-foot high poles and guy wires which are embedded in 42 yards of concrete footings.

And it will be useful.

Audrey Hemenway, who received several grants to design and build the $10,000 sculpture plans it as a wildlife and bird sanctuary, a sort of greenhouse in the woods in which will be planted 200 shrubs donated by the Department of Environmental Conservation.

With a life expectancy of 20 years, it is meant to be a winter haven for birds and small mammals who will be able to enter the sanctuary through any of four triangular shaped doors on the four sides of the four pyramidal shaped structure. There they will feed on the fruits of the bittersweet, highbush blueberry, cranberry, multi-flora rose, honeysuckle and other shrubs which will be planted by a Saugerties boy scout, Milo Fleeter, who is in quest of a conservation merit badge.

Mrs. Hemenway began draping the fabric recently and attracted a gathering of interested persons who are intrigued with the plans for the translucent canopied art work which sits in a small clearing off Ricci Road.

Supervisor Kenneth Smith was on hand, praising the venture as one which "calls attention to environmental needs."

A former art teacher at Hunter and Lehman Colleges, Mrs. Hemenway said the project has been two and one-half years in the planning. A resident of New York City and Marbletown, she said she felt that artists are generally alienated from the community and she is therefore surprisingly gratified that her "Ecological Environment," is receiving the support of so many.

Grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the cooperation from DEC and Owens-Corning Fiberlgas have helped bring her project to fruition.

Owens-Corning donated the fiber glass, the Loos Company in Connecticut donated the cable and a City Island sailmaker fashioned the canopy from specifications drawn up by Lev Zetlin Consulting Engineers.

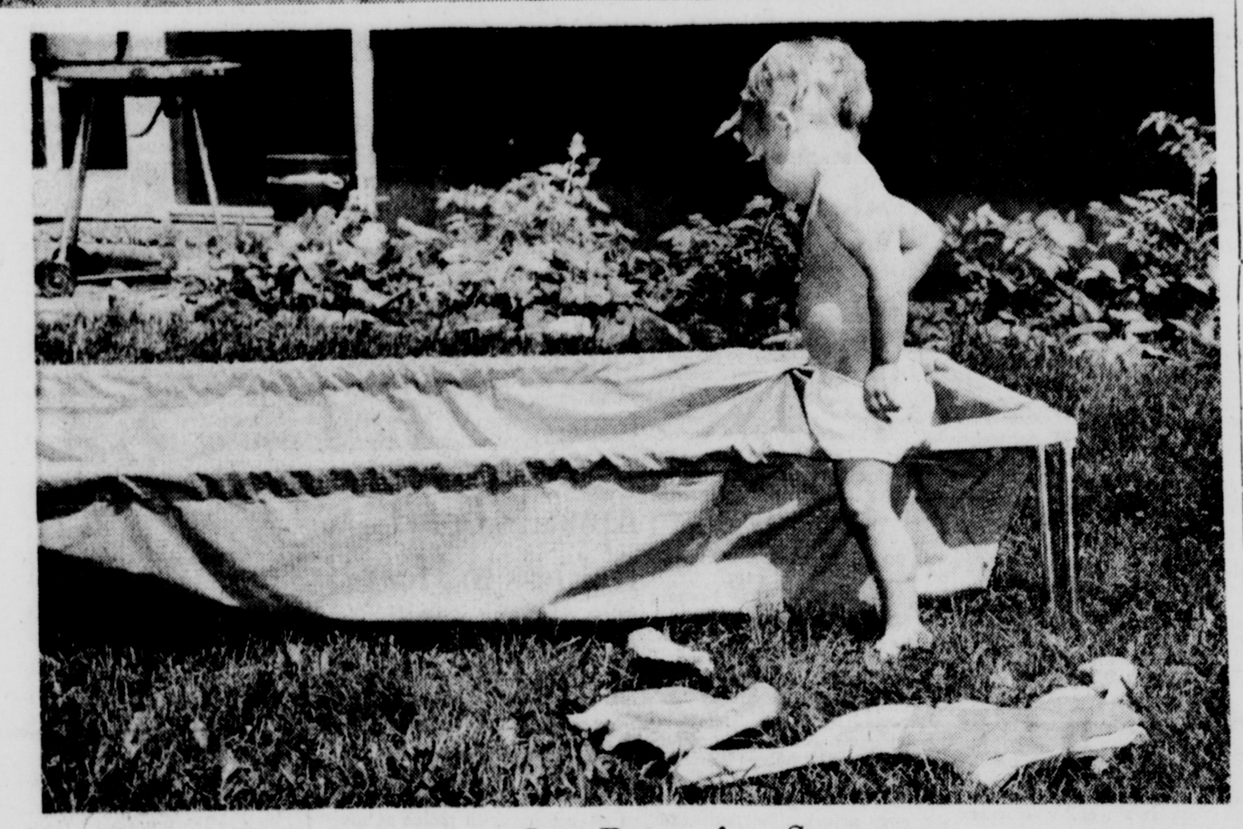

Fiber glass was selected because it is light, strong and translucent. The Cloth is pulled tight by the cables and turnbuckles and saturated with resin. Care is expected to be minimal and the vegetation is expected to be maintained thorughout the year.

Mrs. Hemenway chose the site of the sculpture in a remote area "away from traffic noise" so that pheasants, grouse, rabbits, woodchucks and later song birds will perhaps avail themselves of the winter food supply. Mrs. Hemenway suggests that it will take several years for "deer to get used to it."

The artist, who has a masters degree from Hunter College has also exhibited other environmental sculptures at the Aldrich Museum of Contemporary Art in Ridgefield Conn. Her first environmental sculpture was a five by eight by one-foot transuluscent blue container of fiber glass planted with live plant material. It success with patrons of the art encouraged her to attempt other environmental sculptures — a natural for a city gal who loves the country.

A Coming Out Party for Summer

Today is the first official day of summer and Stephen Devine of Hurley appears to be preparing for a long hot season as he peels for the pool. The two and a half year old may have some inside information on the weather forecast. When summer officially arrived at 2:38 p.m. it ushered in a promise of heat, humidity and thundershowers for the weekend at least. (Freeman photo by Haines)

One to Three Years Sentence for Colson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson was sentenced today to a prison term of one to three years for obstruction of justice in the Ellsberg break-in case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell turned down an impassioned plea by Colson's lawyer that his 42-year-old client not go to jail.

With Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and other members of Colson's prayer group sitting in the front row of the courtroom with heads bowed, Colson said in a long statement to the court that he had always "tried to use every minute to maximum advantage.

"I had one rule: to get done what the President wanted done now. I never really questioned whether it was right or wrong."

Colson had said after pleading guilty to the obstruction count June 3 that it grew out of his conversion to Christianity.

He could have received up to five years' imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Guilty plea reported ready to be made in Milk Fund case. Story, page 5.

In exchange for his guilty plea and a pledge of cooperation with Watergate prosecutors, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to drop conspiracy charges against Colson in the 1971 break-in of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg, as well as other charges in the Watergate cover-up case.

Colson admitted "devising and implementing a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg.

After being sentenced by Gesell, Colson's wife, Patricia, went forward and she and Colson embraced for long moments. The courtroom had filled 35 minutes in advance of the 40-minute proceeding.

Colson, who once said he would walk over his grandmother to get President Nixon re-elected, told the court that he had been pictured as "arrogant, self-assured and in the pursuit of power." He said that was not an accurate characterization.

He said that "actually I was often frightened by the awesome decisions" that he had to make as a top presidential aide. "I lost my perspective—and any criticism of what I or what the President was doing was unfair," he said.

Colson also said, "As to the specific charges, the President on numerous occasions urged me to disseminate damaging information about Daniel Ellsberg, including information about Ellsberg's attorney and others with whom Ellsberg had been in close contact."

Colson had been scheduled to be tried this month along with John D. Ehrlichman, formerly President Nixon's No. 2 aide, and three others on charges of violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist, whose office was burglarized.

The remaining defendants are to go on trial next Wednesday. Colson is expected now to be a key government witness.

At the time of his plea, Colson, who was the White House liaison with special interest groups and Nixon's political operative, said he wanted to be free to help resolve "one of the most divisive and bitter controversies in our history . . . no matter who it may help or hurt — me or others."

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court was scheduled to reserve legal arguments today on whether a court can subpoena President Nixon's Watergate transcripts.

In arguments which deal with the separation of governmental powers established with the Constitution, Jaworski and presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair presented written briefs to the Supreme Court. The court has agreed to decide, according to Jaworski, "whether the President is amenable to the judicial process."

The court says it will also decide whether the Watergate grand jury had the legal power to name President Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate case and to send that famous brown briefcase discussing presidential actions in connection with the Watergate cover-up to the House Judiciary Committee.

The case arose from a Jaworski subpoena for 64 tapes issued May 15. Three of those tapes are of meetings between Nixon and Colson on June 20, 1972 —three days after the Watergate break-in. Colson is expected to testify about those discussions and others in the Sept. 9 trial of top presidential aides.

According to briefs filed so far, St. Clair says the grand jury named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator on the basis of only one shred of evidence —a taped conversation in which the President discussed the payment of "hush money" to burglar E. Howard Hunt.

Rep. Fish Raps Judiciary Panel Leaks

(Special to The Daily Freeman)
By HUGH REYNOLDS
WASHINGTON

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th) has lashed out at information "leaks" from the House Judiciary Committee to the news media, terming the leaks "deplorable" and damaging to the credibility of the investigating committee.

"I think it should be obvious to whoever is leaking those documents that it's not the President that's being hurt, it's the committee," Fish, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, told the Freeman.

"I think these leaks are undermining the credibility of the committee and are harmful to what otherwise was a very fine and professional job by the staff and by the committee."

The Judiciary Committee, which has been hearing evidence on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays since May 9 is meeting today in what Fish expects is the final meeting. And the subject is the bombing of Cambodia.

It had been understood in some quarters that the committee would not delve into the Cambodian bombing situation, since it was apparently not an "impeachable offense."

Fish explains the apparent change in committee policy. "The staff (some time ago) reported to us that there were 16 individual matters or allegations that they felt warranted no further consideration by them in that they had either exhausted their research or it didn't merit their further consideration." The Cambodian bombing was one of these areas. "The staff makes no decision. All these areas are presented to us (the committee) although staff recommendations certainly carry weight."

Fish feels the committee should "get into the Cambodian investigation."

"It should be handled with great care," he emphasized. "This is one of the most sensitive areas in terms of reviewing top secret and diplomatic documents. I just pray there won't be any leaks on this," Fish said.

The Judiciary Committee, which is working toward a July 15 completion of its investigation, will decide next week whether to call witnesses "to fill in the gaps" and whether to publish evidence received to date.

Fish is in favor of calling witnesses but strongly opposed to publishing all the evidence the committee has received prior to the actual articles of impeachment, if in fact such a move is made.

"I think it would be very foolish and totally unnecessary to publish the proceedings," Fish declared. "It was a whole overview and a thorough inquiry, a great deal of which will be considered irrelevant in formulating any articles of impeachment. Why make public damaging material that won't be used."

Fish was further opposed because he said much of the evidence came from grand jury proceedings. Federal Judge John J. Siraca's trials and from the office of special prosecutor. "That evidence is important to the trials of the indicted Watergate defendants," Fish said. "Publication could prejudice prosecution of those trials."

In another matter under investigation by the committee, Fish confirmed that the Internal Revenue Service had assessed a $13,000 penalty (five per cent) against President Nixon for failure to pay taxes from 1969 to 1972. "I believe it's called a negligence fine as distinguished from a fraud fine," Fish said.

Fish also responded to criticism against himself concerning the appearance of Vice President Gerald Ford at testimonial dinner for Fish at the Loch Ledge Country Club in Westchester County last Saturday night.

Fish said he "couldn't understand the criticism." "He appeared as a friend of mine and as a high ranking government official who is probably the number one sought after speaker."

Fish said about 470 persons attended the dinner, about 35 of them from Ulster County. "It was a very gratifying turnout," he said.

Aid for Livestock Industry

Meat at Bargain Prices

By United Press International

Supermarkets across the country have launched an all-out campaign to offer once-scarce meats at bargain prices in an effort to clear out a glut of beef which has kept livestock prices below farmers' production costs.

"In our ads this week, we're going to offer special freezer bundles and urge our customers to load up on beef while the prices are low," said Ames Watson, president and chief executive officer of National Tea Co.

National Tea operates stores in Denver, Minneapolis, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., St. Louis, New Orleans and Chicago.

Los Angeles newspaper advertisements showed lower beef prices this week. Spokesmen for a number of Los Angeles food store chains said market conditions have allowed price cuts of 5-10 cents per pound on economy grades of meat such as ground beef, chuck and stew meat but conditions were flexible.

Bill Newby, a spokesman for Jewel Food Stores in Chicago, said the chain has been cutting back beef prices for the past two months in an effort to step up beef sales.

He said prices had gone down by as much as 34 cents per pound on some cuts of beef compared to Feb. 13 prices. For example, he said, chuck blade steak, which sold for $1.09 per pound Feb. 13, is now priced at 75 cents a pound.

But he noted that pork, poultry and cheese prices also dropped sharply since early February and "are in good competition with beef."

Newby said center cut pork chops were down to 88 cents per pound compared to $1.69 per pound in February.

A spokesman for a New York City food chain said the store was not concerned with the livestock industry but was "out to help the New York City consumer."

"We have continuously been reflecting a reduced price of beef," said a spokesman for New York's Sloan Supermarkets. He said the chain planned sales on roast beef ($1.29), beef liver (59 cents), chopped chuck (99 cents), ground round ($1.39) and flank steaks ($1.79.

Neil Jackson, meat manager for the Colonial Store in Atlanta said the store has been pushing ground meat, with five pounds of hamburger selling for 79 cents a pound compared to $1.19 per pound late last year. He also said the store had its first steak sale in more than a year last week and plans another one next week with savings of up to 70 cents per pound over present prices.

Grocers in the Oklahoma City area noted that prices were down by 20 to 30 cents a pound on some cuts of beef and meat prices were down 20 to 30 cents a pound at 60 Fiser-Fazio supermarkets in northeastern Ohio.

Meat prices also were down in Des Moines, Iowa; Louisville, Ky., Lincoln, Neb., and Marion, Ill.

"I noticed prices were down about 20 cents a pound on ground beef mix so I bought more than usual," said Emma Jilek, a Cleveland housewife.

But some shoppers weren't opening their pocketbooks to buy up the cut-rate beef.

A Columbus, Ohio, supermarket manager said he knew of no oversupply of beef from his supplier but noted that customers were buying cautiously and no more than they needed.

"Just because the price of beef may drop doesn't mean you can sell it," he said.

Meanwhile Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says now is a good time to stock up on meat.

Citing the current price slump in the livestock market, Butz urged consumers Thursday to help the nation's beef producers by "stocking their freezers now ... (because) I think meat is a better buy than its going to be next fall."

"We are assuring consumers that meat is plentiful and that it will continue to be plentiful," Butz said. "The events of the last year have been upsetting and disconcerting for consumers, as well as for livestock producers. It is time now for consumers to resume their purchases of meat as a part of the long-term upgrading of their family diets."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, our mother and grandmother, Nora Riehl who passed away one year ago, June 22, 1973.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name.
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death just the same.

Loving HUSBAND,
CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN

May Price Index Shows Sharp Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices paid by metropolitan area consumers for goods and services rose sharply, by 1.1 per cent, in May despite substantial declines in meat, poultry and egg prices.

It was the fourth monthly increase of 1 per cent or more since May, 1973, the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics said today in its report on the New York-northeastern New Jersey area.

The total increase since May 1973 was 10.4 per cent, the report said. Food prices led the double-digit inflation, increasing 14.7 per cent over the period.

Housing costs were up 11.3 per cent over the year, the health and recreation index rose 7.6 per cent, transportation was up 7.4 per cent and apparel prices rose 6.2 per cent.

The May increase brought the area Consumer Price Index to 52.5 per cent over the 1967 base, meaning that a consumer has to spend $15.25 now to buy what he bought for $10 in 1967.

Herbert Bienstock, head of the bureau's New York office, said the food-at-home index increased only 0.1 per cent in May, as declining meat, poultry and eggs prices offset increases in fruits and vegetables.

Since May 1973, the fruit and vegetable index has risen 24 per cent, the largest increase on record since this statistical compilation began in 1947, Bienstock said.

On the other hand, the meat, poultry and fish index rose only 4.4 per cent since May 1973, the smallest over-the-year increase since November 1971.

The May increase in the New York area was the largest among the five metropolitan areas. But over the year, New York was tied with Los Angeles for second place behind Philadelphia, which experienced an 11.5 per cent increase.

Bienstock noted that the four monthly increases of 1 per cent or more in the last 12 months contrasted with the same number in the previous 22 years between May 1951 and May 1973.

Alcoholism Committee Has Session

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Action Committee on Alcoholism met recently at the Ulster County Mental Health Center to consider selection of the areas in which information is to be gathered concerning the incidence of alcoholism in Ulster County.

The areas under consideration by the committee members are: Treatment, The Debilitated Alcoholic, Occupational Alcoholism Programs, Alcohol and Highway Safety, Public Education, Professional and Allied Professional Education and Administration and Finance.

Persons desiring to contribute reliable information concerning the incidence and/or seeking information concerning the treatment of alcoholism should call the Ulster County Mental Health Center at 400 Broadway.

The next meeting of the Action Committee on Alcoholism will be July 8. At this time the information will be compiled and priorities concerning the incidence and proposed treatment alternatives will be considered.

Contemporary Cantata Slated

LAKE KATRINE

The combined choir of the Grace Community Church, Lake Katrine will present the dramatic popular cantata, Jesus Is Coming, by John Peterson Sunday 10:45 p.m. at the church.

The cantata will be directed by Mrs. Evie Hopkins of Stone Ridge, a faculty member at Ulster County Community College with Beth Hopkins as accompanist. Soloists will be Steven and Martha Joy Olsen and Sharon Kuhn of Lake Katrine, Beth Honkins of Stone Ridge and William and Lynn Ann Davis of Saugerties.

The music is contemporary but the message is scriptural. Members, friends and the general public may attend.

Drummer Still Beating Away

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Trevor Mitchell, a British drummer attempting to break his own world's record for non-stop drumming, was still pounding away Thursday despite a side trip to the hospital.

The 23-year-old percussionist began drumming at 10 a.m. Wednesday, vowing to continue his marathon beat until he bests his previous record of 215 hours.

It looked as if his promotional stunt for the opening of the Saratoga Fair might be interrupted when his right wrist became swollen.

Appeals Court Refuses to Hear Students' Case

ALBANY

The Court of Appeals has refused to hear the case of the three Kingston High School black students who were arrested Nov. 15, 1972, following an altercation with police at the school.

Earlier this month Ulster County Judge Raymond J. Mino upheld the May 25, 1973 Kingston City Court convictions of Elizabeth Waters, 19, of 83 Broadway, Gary Faulkner, 19, of 79 West Union Street and Thelma Price, 18, of 97M, Rondout Gardens.

City Judge Hubert Richter had previously imposed the following conditionally discharged sentences on the trio: Miss Waters and Faulkner, 15 days each for disorderly conduct and Miss Price, 30 days on disorderly conduct and assault, third degree charges.

Everette Hodge, president of the Ulster County Chapter of NAACP, called the outcome of the case an injustice to the black people in Ulster County and following Judge Mino's affirmation of Richter's decision, took the case to the Court of Appeals, expressing confidence that that court would exonerate the three students.

Smith Raps Legislature On Glen Street

KINGSTON

Alderman Brian D. Smith (R-Third Ward), despite an alleged "cold shoulder" from the County Legislature in his campaign to get Glen Street closed to traffic to the county infirmary, says he will "continue my attack until something is done to relieve this terrible situation."

Smith, who addressed the legislature on Wednesday, noted that on Monday a taxicab on its way to the infirmary ran off the road to avoid children playing in the vicinity of 62 Glen Street.

"It could have been a real serious situation," Smith declared. "Thank God no one was hurt. We might not be so fortunate the next time."

Smith concluded by stating, "despite the fact the legislators take this matter lightly, to me and the residents it's a nightmare and we will not rest until something is done."

City Police Arrest Two

KINGSTON

A street disturbance in Kingston late Thursday night ended with the arrests of two Hunter Street men who had allegedly threatened others with a knife and a shotgun.

City police charged Albert Vedder, 21, of 108 Hunter Street with first degree reckless endangerment for allegedly thre

Seaplane Vote Draws Fire

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A decision by the Adirondack Park Agency (APA) rejecting a proposal to reopen 17 wilderness lakes to seaplane landings has drawn fire from one North Country lawmaker as evidence the agency lacks regard for Adirondack residents.

However, members of the agency defend the decison as necessary to preserve the wilderness character of the Adirondack Park, the largest untouched forest area in the Northeast.

The ruling, approved by a 6-4 vote, represents one of the most controversial decisions made by the agency since it was established as overseer of the land-use and development of the park's 6 million acres by the 1973 legislature.

Assemblyman Glenn H. Harris, R-Canada Lake, who had sought reopening of the lakes for float-equipped aircraft, blasted the decision as "the most self-righteous, arbitrary, callous and stone-hearted these agency members have taken so far."

Harris, in a statement issued Thursday by his office in Albany, said the APA had disregarded Adirondack residents' wishes and he was "outraged."

The controversy began last year, when the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) closed to seaplanes all 700 lakes in the one-million acres of "wilderness" land established by the APA.

Harris and a group of Adirondack citizens and bush pilots petitioned to reopen 17 of the 700 lakes to the float planes. They argued that the aircraft did not violate the wilderness character as much as hikers or horse parties.

The planes generally were used to transport hunters and fishermen to remote areas of the Adirondacks Park which cannot be reached by any other type of motorized vehicle.

The agency, a super-zoning body for the huge park, also ordered other signs of civilization in the "wilderness areas" removed by 1975. These include fire towers, telephone and electric lines and jeep and truck trails.

Harris also asked that decision be delayed, but the agency, in its vote Wednesday, said it was unnecessary to consider that part of the petition because the action was not pending until the end of 1975.

The petition by Harris was the subject of heated public hearings in Paul Smiths and Albany earlier this year.

Voting against allowing the aircraft to use the lakes were agency Chairman Richard W. Lawrence Jr., Peter S. Paine Jr., Mary F. Prime and the three members of the agency who are state officials — Environmental Conservation Commissioner James L. Biggane, Commerce Commissioner Neal L. Moylan and Richard A. Wiebe, director of planning.

In favor of the float plane landings were James R. Bird, William J. Foley, John Stock and Whitman Daniels. Bird, Foley and Stock live within the park. Daniels is from Delmar, an Albany suburb.

In his statement, Harris noted that the Adirondack residents on the agency supported the petition and that "outsiders" were opposed.

"The agency decision serves to prove they don't give a damn about the individual citizen of the Adirondacks, the local governments within the park, sportsmen, the economy of the area, its tourism or any other concern expressed by a resident of the park," Harris said.

The state owns about 2.3 million acres within the so-called "Blue Line" which defines the park area. Private interests own approximately 3.7 million acres.

Of the state owned land, about 1 million acres are classified as "wilderness," which precludes the use of any type of motorized vehicle. Wilderness areas are generally open to hiking, hunting, fishing and ski touring.

About 1.2 million acres of the state owned land are classified as "wild forest," which allows the use of motorized recreational vehicles. Other classifications include primitive and canoe areas and "intensive use" areas.

Intensive use permits public campgrounds and other high population density uses.

A spokesman for the agency noted that the "wilderness" classification, which is spread throughout the park in various parcels, represents only 17 per cent of the land within the park, just 3 per cent of the total land in New York State and only 1 per cent of the land in the Northeastern United States. He said that the state classification was the only one of its type in the Eastern United States.

Four Woodstock Policemen Cited by NYC FBI Chief

WOODSTOCK

Four members of the Woodstock Police Department have been lauded by the FBI for their recent actions in apprehending two fugitives "in the finest tradition of law enforcement."

In a letter addressed to Chief William Waterous from John F. Malone, FBI assistant director in New York City at the US Department of Justice, it was stated that on May 29, 1974 members of the department were instrumental in locating two fugitives sought by the FBI.

Civilian Dispatcher George France, Woodstock Emergency Communications Center, observed a man he thought he recognized as a fugitive deserter from a photo he had seen at the police station.

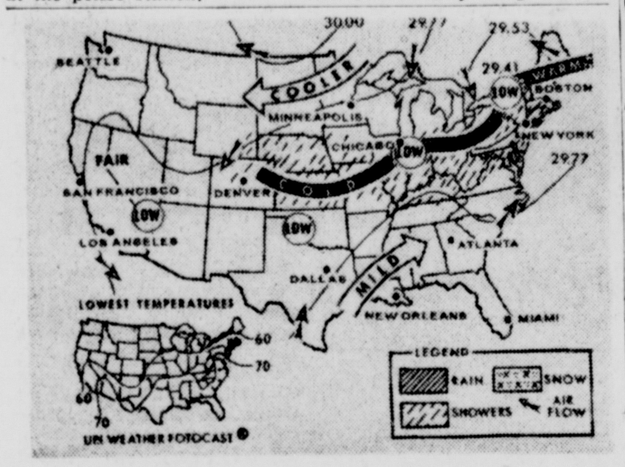

Together with Patrolman Ludwig Baumgarten, he located and questioned the young man. Although he furnished false identification and did not closely fit the physical description of the fugitive, they nevertheless notified Special Agent John R. Kent.

After lengthy questioning, said the letter, the fugitive admitted his true identity.

While in the company of Patrolman Baumgarten in connection with the first episode, Special Agent Kent furnished Baumgarten with photos of a second fugitive for display to other members of the Woodstock Department.

Patrolman Michael Grehl reported for duty one hour later and immediately recognized this photo as that of a person who had been in the station one week earlier to report a lost document. Less than one hour later, Patrolman Grehl and Milton Holsapple located him and took him into custody.

FBI Assistant Director Malone commented: "The alertness, keen observation and interest shown by Dispatcher France and Patrolmen Baumgarten, Grehl and Holsapple were in the finest tradition of law enforcement and resulted in the apprehension of two fugitives within a four hour period. I would like to commend them for their excellent police work."

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Saturday.

Bids Opened On Furniture

KINGSTON

Haver Business Furniture of 781 Broadway, was the low bidder on office furniture for the new offices of the district attorney in the newly renovated Court House on Wall Street.

Haver bid $2,922. Sklons Business Machine bid $3,449.95; Kingston Blueprint and Supply Company bid $3,176 and Sears submitted a bid of $3,447.

County Auditor Holcombe Tomson, in whose office the bids were opened Thursday afternoon, said that after the county attorney reviews the bids the award will be made probably within the week.

The renovation of offices of the district attorney are nearing completion and are expected to be ready for occupancy any day.

The county auditors office also received one bid Thursday for radio equipment for the county's two-way radio system. The single bidder was Nelsons Communications Corp., Highland.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz School Board announced the hiring of a new high school principal and two administrative assistants at a meeting held Wednesday night in the high school library.

H. Kenneth Salenger, principal of Star Point School in western New York State, was named the new New Paltz principal. The administrative assistants are Bernard Matthews who will assist Salenger and Barnett Sturm who is to be assistant in the Middle School.

Outgoing board member Mrs. Andrew Bivona, president of the board for the past two years and a board member for six years was honored by fellow members, and Dr. John Price, another board member, resigned to go on a sabbatical. The board will appoint someone to fill out the last year of Price's term.

Teaching appointments were made and Betty Martin was granted a sabbatical and Patricia Cinquemani and Barbara Pitt were given tenure.

General discusscsion was held on learning disabilities, exchange teacher, Keith Dutton of England give his impressions of his year of teaching at New Paltz and the board agreed to transport students to St. Peter's School in Rosendale.

A resolution was passed to have a traffic light installed at Route 299 and South Putt Corners Road, the request to be made of the town board.

Daylight saving time was discussed and it was agreed to take the matter up with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services with regard to scheduling of school next fall.

The board approved a routine resolution to accept federal funds and set July 2 at 8 p.m. for an organizational meeting at the high school library.

Fine Ordered Returned in Drug Case

The days of blanket narcotics raids at Dutchess County college pretty much concluded by the end of the 1960s, but one former Bard College student who felt he had been victimized will be given back the $600 he had to pay in fines in 1969.

The action was brought to light by the Red Hook Town Board this week. As the story goes, David Alleyene, one of a number of students arrested in a raid at Bard, pled guilty to charges of marijuana possession and criminal trespass before the late Judge Frank Martin, and he was convicted.

Alleyene won a reversal of his case earlier this year on grounds that Judge Martin made no record of giving Alleyene notification of his rights. The town was ordered to refund the $600 in fines and clean the record.

There had been two of the pre-dawn commando style raids at Bard during those years, with no person convicted of possession of any hard drugs, according to Bard College Dean Carl Selinger.

As many as several dozen students at one time were marched in the early morning hours to the Red Hook Town Hall for booking, with no major convictions resulting.

At that time, Bard President Dr. Reamer Kline was vociferous in his declamations denouncing the raids, and Dean Selinger noted this week that the incident was "not one of the greatest moments for law enforcement in Dutchess County."

Leaks and Partisanship

The leaks which have resulted in an outpouring of information from the House Judiciary Committee have given the panel the appearance of a partisan committee trying to sway the public toward impeachment before all the evidence is in.

One of the first major leaks reported that despite denials, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had a hand in initiating wiretaps on officals and newsmen. This led to Kissinger's threat to resign and came at a time when President Nixon was on a goodwill trip through the Middle East.

The most divisive leaks were those of three memoranda containing committee evidence that had been prepared by a Judiciary Committee staff member. One of them reported that President Nixon had urged former Attorney General John Mitchell to "stonewall it" and to plead the Fifth Amendment if called to testify. These memos were made available only to a select few Democrats and never to Republicans.

This unfortunately has put a partisan stamp on the committee which has the important task of deciding whether the President should be impeached.

The current practice of leaking secret information which is aimed at condemning a person with results of incomplete investigation can be compared to the accusatory tactics of the McCarthy era.

If the leaks continue to pour out of the House Judiciary Committee the press and the public must be aware that chances increase that partial or mistaken information may lodge unfair impressions in the public mind and impede the workings of justice.

And it must be remembered that leaks can injure the innocent instead of exposing those guilty of wrong doing. Because of this the press has the responsibility of using cautious judgment in the use of source information.

It would be unfortunate if the House Judiciary Committee reduces the important impeachment inquiry into a mere political hassle.

Interior Renovations Needed

The proposal just passed by the Ulster County Legislature approving a face-lifting for the County Court House on Wall Street might not be a bad idea after all. What with the innovative renovation to the facades of the commercial establishments just down the block, it is altogether within keeping that the old courthouse gets spruced up and put its best face forward.

It is also altogether within keeping to suggest that the inner workings of the courthouse also be given a modern face. Interminable delays in bringing cases to trial; abbreviated court sessions lasting just a few hours a day; the time of prospective jurors being frittered away because of unnecessary postponements, hung juries being dismissed prematurely after only a few hours of deliberations; judicial edicts infringing on the people's right to know—all of those outmoded conditions belong back in the age of the patroons. An interior as well as an exterior renovation is in order.

Unasked Questions

One of the banes of journalism is the unanswered question. This phenomenon was illustrated in stories on the International Father's Mustache Competition. It was won by Jay Nestle of Broomfield, Colo., who sports a pair of splendid waxed handlebars extending many inches on either side of his head.

Enter the unanswered question: How does Nestle sleep without crumpling this adornment? So far as we are aware, reporters left millions of readers bereft of information on this point. The Columbia Journalism Review shall hear of this.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mayor Daley Cracks the Whip

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Chicago's embattled Mayor Richard Daley, his bossdom shaken, his power slipping, his health failing, summoned enough political strength last week for a "Last Hurrah."

From his cigar-polluted lair in city hall, he reached all the way to Washington and killed the land-use bill which would have brought order to the chaotic, wasteful development of the nation's dwindling land resources.

Daley sabotaged the bill for reasons that, quite naturally, riled the last of the big-city bosses. The bill left him no power to hand out lucrative land development contracts to his favorite contractors. Instead, most land decisions would have devolved upon the governor.

In Illinois, the governor happens to be an ambitious, anti-machine Democrat, Daniel Walker, who has dared to defy Daley.

Any legislation that would allow Walker to call the shots on land development was more than Daley could abide. So the old political war lord cracked the whip on Chicago's Democratic congressmen, all liberals, who normally would have voted with their fellow liberals for national standards to assure orderly land development.

Instead, they took their orders from Daley whose political machine turns out the voters for them on election day. The four Chicago votes against the land-use bill provided the margin which defeated the measure, 211-204.

We have spoken to the congressmen from Chicago who solemnly deny that Daley influenced their votes. As Rep. Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., explained it, the Chicago delegation felt their city was "so far ahead" of the rest of the nation in land-use planning that the bill would have had a harmful effect.

But sources close to the delegation say that Daley sent them their voting instructions. One messenger, apparently, was his own land development expert, Lou Hill, who pointedly reminded some members of the delegation of the contractors' political clout.

The Chicago mayor joined forces with President Nixon to defeat land-use standards. Both men are fighting for poltiical survival, with aides under indictment and prosecutors pressing them at every turn.

The President withdrew his earlier support for the land-use bill under pressure from conservatives whose votes he is counting upon to save himself from impeachment. The conservatives fear the bill might trespass upon the rights of private property owners.

ERVIN'S GHOST WRITER: Senator Ervin, D-N.C., the hero of Watergate, has permitted a business lobbyist to help draft his views against the proposed Consumer Protection Agency.

Richard Leighton, a lobbyist for the Grocery Manfacturers of America, wrote part of the minority report on the legislation. In Ervin's name, Leighton warned that the bill would "create a Caesar within the federal bureaucracy."

The lobbyist embarrasingly misspelled Ervin's name which was listed as "Erwin" in the signature at the bottom of the minority report.

The proposed consumer agency would represent consumers inside the federal policy councils — at rate hearings, for example, before the Federal Power Commission or drug hearings before the Food and Drug Administration.

The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., has already passed the House, but faces a filbuster in the Senate. Two of the Senate's most long-winded orators, the avuncular Ervin and Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., are expected to try to talk the bill to death.

The bill came out of the Senate Government Operations Committee, whose chief counsel, Bob Smith, admitted that lobbyist Leighton wrote part of the minority report. Speaking for Ervin, Smith claimed that the senator opposed the legislation not because he is anti-consumer but because he is against government intervention.

Smith suggested that we ask consumer crusader Ralph Nader whether he wrote part of the majority report in favor of the Consumer Protection Agency. Speaking for Nader, Joan Claybrook said she had reviewed the majority report before it went to press but that the Nader people wrote no part of it.

NUCLEAR THREAT: A grim, secret intelligence analysis warns that India's nuclear explosion and the American-Egyptain nuclear agreement will lead to uncontrolled nuclear arms development.

The report claims that several small nations have already taken the first, secret steps toward developing nuclear arms. The analysis predicts that Egypt, Iran, Israel, Japan, Rumania, Sweden and West Germany will wind up eventually with their own nuclear arsenals.

Only a severe United Nations crackdown, the report suggests, might halt the proliferation of nuclear weapons. The time to act was after India exploded its atomic bomb. Instead, the United States followed up by offering nuclear aid to Egypt.

Although the aid is supposed to be restricted to peaceful purposes, plutonium for bombs can be obtained by reprocessing used uranium from peaceful nuclear reactors.

The spread of nuclear power increases the possibility that an irresponsible leader may get his hands on nuclear weapons. Libya's strongman, Muammar el-Qadaffi, for example, has supplied Soviet-made, shoulder-fired missiles to terrorists. A future Qadaffi might be able to furnish terrorists with nuclear bombs.

Inside Report

Dem's Death Wish

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

The reasons for the Democratic state convention's overwhelming endorsment of Howard Samuels for governor raises doubt whether New York Democrats can regain power in 1974 after 16 years in the wilderness even when blessed with every political advantage — a melancholy note for the party nationally.

The hard fact is that few Democrats view the energetic Samuels, former New York City off-track betting commissioner, as their best candidate. Yet, he captured 69 per cent of the state committee vote at Niagara Falls last week against his only opponent, Rep. Hugh Carey, and is heavily favored to defeat him in the September primary.

This points up the structural inability of New York Democrats to fully cash in on lessons learned from long years of defeat. Regular party leaders, their power diminished and their confidence shattered by the inroads of reform, cannot control the state primary where light turnouts produce a leftward imbalance. In endorsing Samuels, regulars were less interested in winning the governorship than in clinging to their remnants of power. The significance is that with New York essential for national Democratic success, another defeat here would be a calamity.

Actually, this convention showed the party had absorbed some lessons from the horrible past, particularly the 1972 McGovernite binge. Though scarcely equalling the robotlike state Republican convention, it was orderly and unified by Democratic standards.

Unity was the watchword. A potentially divisive resolution demanding unconditional amnesty for Vietnam draft-dodgers was sidetracked. Even formerly wild-eyed McGovernites now admit New York Democrats will be doomed to perpetual defeat unless they recapture the middle-class Catholic vote.

This return to sanity coincides with Republican deterioration, inevitable after 16 years in power but hastened by Watergate. In addition, charismatic Nelson Rockefeller has been replaced as governor by colorless Malcolm Wilson. This, then, should be the year for the return of the Democrat.

The fact that Democrats here were nevertheless lacking in optimism can be traced to misgivings about Samuels, a self-made millionaire industrialist who is making his fourth bid for governor. Although off-track betting has made Samuels well-known to the neighborhood saloon set as "Howie the Horse," many politicans doubt any Jewish liberal can win back the Archie Bunker vote against Catholic conservative Malcolm Wilson. Moreover, centerist labor leaders (including the powerful Albert Shanker of the teachers' union) are bitterly opposed to Samuels.

Having gained the reputation of a moderately liberal and highly effective Congressman during 14 years in Washington, Carey long has been regarded as an ideal candidate to win back the Catholic middle class. Slimmed down for the campaign by 25 pounds, he was the oratorical star of the convention with an eloquent three-minute speech Thursday afternoon.

It did not matter. Influential regular leaders, most significantly Meade Esposito of Brooklyn, weeks ago decided to back Samuels, and thereby lock up the endorsement. Altough New York switched in 1970 from state conventions to primary elections to decide nominations, the state's Democrats have not broken their traditional habit of staying home on primary day. The 1970 primary turned out barely 20 per cent, dominated by educated, liberal New York City Jews. The result: a ticket with four Jews and one black.

New York regular leaders, no longer "bosses" but now engaged in precariously balancing conflicting interests, have lost confidence in their ability to win primaries. This distorted decisions last week on the state ticket. Although 1974 could be the year to beat liberal Republican Sen. Jacob Javits, every possible moderate Democratic foe had to answer this question: could he beat former Atty. Gen. Ramsay Clark, the transplanted Texan whose outlandish leftwing posture would taint the entire ticket if he were nominated?

Nor do the regulars want a dangerous power struggle with the reformers for party posts. Thus, the regular leaders backed Samuels mainly because they felt unable to defeat him with Carey in the primary.

However, two key regulars deeply interested in a November victory, Pat Cunningham of the Bronx and Dominic Baranello of suburban Suffolk County, broke ranks to support Carey. That gave him over 31 per cent of the vote, putting him on the September primary ballot.

Carey's strategists hope that effective precinct organization, built from remnants of the old Kennedy apparatus and drawing from organized labor, will enlarge the primary turnout by bringing in ethnic middle-class voters.

Few Democratic politicans agree. They believe Samuel's superb organization will get out his vote to swamp the low-turnout primary. "It makes me sad to see Hughie do so well," one party veteran told us after Carey's speech here. "There's no doubt he's made a great candidate and there's no way we can nominate him." New York Democrats seemingly have not fully satisfied their death wish after 16 years of trying.

Milk Fund Case . . . Guilty Plea Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen has agreed tentatively to plead guilty to a reduced charge of bribery in connection with $10,000 he says he offered to former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, according to informed sources.

Jacobsen, who once swore that Connally refused the money, is offering to testify that Connally actually took it in two installments for help he gave Jacobsen's client, Associated Milk Producers Inc., the sources said. Connally consistently has denied taking the money.

In return for a guilty plea and Jacobsen's promise of cooperation, the Watergate special prosecution force has agreed to drop its perjury case against him and to arrange for the Justice Department to drop an unrelated indictment in a Texas savings-and-loan case.

All told, Jacobsen could receive maximum punishment of up to 40 years and $80,000 in fines if convicted on all counts in the Watergate and Texas cases. Sources said the Watergate prosecutors offered to allow him to plead guilty instead to the least serious felony charge of bribery, which carried a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Jacobsen had sought to have all charges reduced to misdemeanors because conviction of a felony almost certainly would lead to loss of his right to practice law, the sources said.

However, the prosecutors insisted on stiffer terms, and Jacobsen's lawyer, Charles A. McNelis, agreed to the bribe charge more than two weeks ago, the sources said. Jacobsen wants to resolve the charges against him because his wife is in poor health and needs constant attention, a source said.

Jacobsen, McNelis and spokesmen for the Justice Department and the Watergate prosecutors all declined comment.

Connally could not be reached but his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, said he had heard rumors of an impending deal.

Jacobsen represented the milk producers in 1971 and arranged for his old friend Connally to work within the administration for an increase in federal milk price supports.

Connally argued strongly for a price increase at a White House meeting at which President Nixon decided to order the hike, a fact sheet issued last January by presidential spokesmen said.

Both Jacobsen and Connally have testified that within a few days of the increase, Jacobsen offered Connally $10,000.

Both said it was not offered as a bribe, but as a fund from which Connally could donate to political candidates.

Jacobsen testified that he put the money in a Texas bank vault and left it there untouched for 2½ years until last November when an FBI agent removed it.

The serial numbers showed the money could not have been in circulation at the time Jacobsen swore he received it, according to an unpublished report by the staff of the Senate Watergate Committee. The committee staff said this is conclusive proof that Jacobsen lied about the money.

A Watergate grand jury indicted Jacobsen for perjury and accused him of lying about the cash in the vault. A federal judge threw out the indictment on a technicality, but Jacobsen faces possible re-indictment on the same charge.

U.S. Favors 12-Mile Sea Limits

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States has started its campaign at the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea to hold the new territorial sea limits of nations to 12 miles.

Chief U.S. delegate John Stevenson told a news conference Thursday the United States, which now claims the traditional three miles around its shores, is prepared to adopt the 12-mile limit that has been gaining favor provided this was generally adopted internationally.

Stevenson said the United States also would agree to an additional zone over which the adjacent nation would control "living and nonliving resources" but through which ships could pass freely. He said the U.S. would be "flexible" about this zone's width.

This was a concession to Peru, Ecuador and Chile, which have been enforcing a 200-mile limit off their coasts to the detriment of tuna fishermen from southern California.

In exchange for approving an extension of the territorial limits, the U.S., wants guarantees as sought by the major maritime nations that the straits connecting the world's seas will remain open to international navigation.

The Soviet Union today reiterated its support for the 12-mile limit in "the interests of coastal countries and the interests of the international society." But China in a broadcast Thursday said each country has the right to determine its own territorial limits and zone of jurisdiction.

Moscow Radio said this was against the interests of the majority of nations, including developing countries, and it accused the Chinese of trying to block limitations "just in case they want to claim islands now located in international waters."

The 148 nations participating in this largest international conference ever held were welcomed at the opening session Thursday by a blast from President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela, who accused the United Nations of serving the "powerful interests."

Perez, who has plans to take control of his nation's vast oil industry from the U.S. interests that developed it, said "the lesson of petroleum must be remembered and applied to the deliberations of this conference. The riches of a country or a group of countries may be exploited for years, for many years, but not for a lifetime."

Large Soviet Contract Awarded

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chemical Construction Corp. of New York has won the largest Soviet contract ever granted an American firm. Worth about $200 million, it covers the developing and equipping of the first four plants of a huge ammonia-fertilizer complex.

The contract was signed Thursday at the Soviet Foreign Trade Ministry by John Clarke, head of the Chemico division responsible for the project, and the head of the Soviet foreign trade department supervising the deal.

Also present was Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum, who negotiated the master Soviet-American agreement under which the complex is being built.

The U.S. Export-Import Bank last month granted a $180-million loan to the Soviet Union for construction of the complex. American commercial banks are to match this sum.

Under a proposed 20-year deal, the Soviet Union will buy superphosphates produced in Florida by an Occidental consortium and use them to make a type of fertilizer greatly needed by Soviet agriculture.

In return the Soviets will ship the United States urea and ammonia to be used in production of nitrogen fertilizers. The new plants will produce the urea and ammonia from natural gas from the Soviet Union's Orenberg field. Chairman William Casey of the Export-Import Bank said this would free enough American natural gas to heat a million homes a year.

In April 1973, when the initial protocol was signed, Hammer estimated it would generate $8 billion in trade. On Thursday he increased his estimate to more than $20 billion, explaining that the price of ammonia and phosphates had more than doubled.

Chemico is to supply the designs, engineering, material, construction advisers and equipment for four plants at Togliatti, on the Volga river about 400 miles east of Moscow. Each will produce 1,360 tons of ammonia a day.

Clarke said he expects construction to start by Jan. 1 with completion four years later. The Soviets plan to build four more plants in the complex, but the contracts for them have not been let yet.

NEW YORK (AP) — A prime rate increase by New York's First National City Bank helped set off a broad decline in the stock market today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally lower, and declines took a 3-1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began First National City, which had sparked some strong gains in the market two weeks ago with a prime rate cut, lifted its rate on loans to big business back up from 11 to 11½ per cent.

Most other banks have held their prime rates at 11½ since last month.

Analysts noted that hopes for a downtrend in interest rates had been fading steadily in recent sessions, and stock prices have given up much of the ground they gained in their sharp rally at the beginning of June.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Gulf Oil, down ⅛ at 20; Kimberly-Clark, down ⅝ at 28; Zapata Corp., down ⅝ to 20, and Westinghouse Electric, up ⅛ at 15¾.

Mexican Government Deplores U.S. Centers

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico expressed its "absolute opposition" to the existence and operation of "detention centers" for Mexican migrant workers in the United States in an energetically worded note Wednesday.

The note was delivered to U.S. Ambassador Joseph John Jova by the Mexican Foreign Relations Ministry. It asked for "just, decent, and human treatment" for Mexican workers.

The note charged that every time the Mexican government commision in charge of the problem has met with its U.S. counterpart, "the American representatives have limited themselves to simply taking note" of the Mexican points of view.

It asked for "a rapid and adequate solution to the situation of Mexican migrant workers in the United States," which it said was an issue of "permanent grievance" to Mexico.

"The existence of 'detention camps'—the name alone is indicative of a situation that should be soon be remedied—contributed nothing to solve the problem; it only aggravates it," the note said.

"There has been little progress" on the migrant workers —or "bracero"—problem, the note continued, in spite of repeated efforts by Mexico "on all diplomatic levels" to arrive at "a concrete and immediate solution."

Mexico is asking for a three-point accord on the migrants:

1. Establishment of an annual quota fixed by both countries, in accordance with the demand of U.S. employers, in order to ensure that Mexican farm workers enter and stay in the United States on a legal basis.

2. Guarantees that Mexican migrants work under the same conditions and receive the same treatment as U.S. workers.

3. Greater mediation powers for Mexican consular officials, to protect Mexican migrant workers.

Teenage Trio Charged With Amenia Fire

AMENIA

Three teenagers who were allegedly involved in the setting of a fire that destroyed the Amenia Theater on Saturday causing an estimated $25,000 loss, were arrested Thursday by Dutchess County Sheriff's Deputies.

The arests came after a fourth teenager told an Amenia fireman that he was involved in the setting of the fire, deputies said.

The Dutchess County Sheriff's Department identified the three charged as Harold Flood, 17, Brian Proper, 17 and William Boughton, 16, all of Amenia. Flood was charged with third degree arson. Proper and with conspiracy.

The fourth youth, identified by the Sheriff's Department as Edward Triacca, 16, also of Amenia, was taken into custory as a material witness and was later released in the custody of his parents. He will not be charged in connection with the blaze, according to authorities.

The three youths who were charged pleaded innocent at arraignment proceedings. Flood was confined in lieu of $5,000 bail. Proper and Boughton were counfined in lieu of $1,500 bail each.

The Sheriff's Department said Flood allegedly set the fire and Proper served as a lookout, while Boughton and Triacca remained in the car the quartet was using when the blaze was started shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday.

MRS. RAYMOND LEE VanWAGNER
(Barbara Lee Lowe)

Lowe-VanWagner Nuptials Announced

Barbara Lee Lowe and Raymond Lee VanWagner were married June 9 at the First Presbyterian Church, Liberty, with the Rev. George Beimler and Rev. Newton B. Ford officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hughie Lowe, of RFD 1, Hurleyville, and the late Hughie Lowe. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd VanWagner of Peekamoose Road, Sundown.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Stephen P. Lowe, of Las Vegas, Nevada, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory moire' taffeta with a gathered bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her three-tiered, tulle veil with lace juliet cap was edged with Chantilly lace. She carried a prayer book with red and white roses.

Patricia Gorman of Parksville, N.Y. was maid of honor. She wore a gown of peacock blue satin with empire bodice, sweetheart neckline and A-line skirt.

Attendants were Linda M. Lowe, sister of the bride, of Saugerties; Karen Allison of Woodbourne; and Susan VanWagner of Maybrook. They wore aqua blue gowns identical in styling to the maid of honor's. All wore blue picture hats and carried nosegays of blue daisy mums and white carnations. The attendants' gowns were made by the bride's mother.

James Osterhoudt of Grahamsville was best man. Ushers were Floyd VanWagner Jr. of Sundown and Fred Van Wagner of Maybrook, brothers of the bridegroom; Tim Kortright of Woodbourne; and Michael Wolfe of Neversink.

A reception was given at the Holiday Inn in Liberty.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Tri-Valley Central School, Grahamsville, was graduated from Sullivan County Community College with Honors in Biological Technology on June 2. She is employed by Dr. Sydney Schiff of Liberty.

The bridegroom, also a 1972 graduate of Tri-Valley Central School, graduated from Ulster County Community College this June and is employed as a butcher at Krum's Store in Grahamsville.

After a wedding trip to the State of Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Van Wagner will reside at Woodbourne Road, Route 42, Grahamsville.

Wedding Bells Ring for June Bride

St. Catherine Laboure Church, Lake Katrine, was the setting for the wedding of Barbara Jean VanEtten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Etten of Old Stage Road, Lake Katrine, and Robert G. Fondino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Fondino of Glasco.

The Rev. James LeBar officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass Saturday, June 8. Commentator at the Mass was John Bruno of Glasco. Mrs. James Sweeney provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected an Empire styled gown of imported silk and Venice lace. The gown featured a Victorian neckline and bishop sleeves. Her chapel-length, silk illusion mantilla was bordered with lace. She carried a nosegay of white roses with blue and yellow chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Nancy VanEtten of Lake Katrine was maid of honor for her sister in a yellow-flowered, Dacron polyester gown styled with a shirred bodice and white collar trimmed with lace. She carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums, yellow spider chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

(Barbara Jean VanEtten)
(Amato photo)

Attendants were Mrs. Kathy Ruge, Sawkill-Ruby Road, Kingston, sister of the bride; Mrs. Sheryl Parker, 37 North Wilbur Avenue, Kingston, and Miss Veronica Fondino, Glasco, sisters of the bridegroom. Their blue flowered gowns were identical in styling to the maid of honor's and they carried nosegays of white chrysanthemums, blue spider chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Steven Fondino of Glasco was best man for his brother. Ushering were Steve Parker, 38 North Wilbur Avenue, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Paul Ruge, Sawkill-Ruby Road, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bride; and Michael Perry, Lincoln Lane, Kingston.

A reception was given at Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by New York Telephone Company, Kingston.

Her husband, a 1971 alumnus of Saugerties High School, is a part time student at Ulster County Community College, and is employed by Hucktrol Inc., Kingston.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Fondino will reside in Ruby.

Doing the Right Thing

Three Weeks Before the Wedding . . . . .

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1974 The Emily Post Institute, Inc.
Distributed by
Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

Your wedding day is three weeks away and your checklist of things that must be done is almost complete. Be sure these items have been attended to:

1) Invitations should all be mailed. Actually, those to a formal wedding are sent out three to four weeks beforehand; whereas those to a small wedding may go out as late as ten days before the ceremony. Incidentally, there are three excellent reasons for including a return address and, so far as I know, no valid reason for omitting it, other than an outdated "rule." First, the Post Office Department requests that all first class mail carry a return address. Second, it provides the wedding guest with a definite place to which to send a reply and a gift, and third, it enables the bride to know for sure which invitations, if any, failed to reach their destination. Therefore regardless of the many years it was considered in bad taste to put your return address on the envelope, I recommend that it be included on the back flap.

2) Be sure that both you and your groom have completed your blood tests and other requirements of your marriage license.

3) Change your name on pertinent documents and accounts, such as driver's license, credit cards, and checking account.

4) See about a floater insurance policy to cover your wedding gifts, if you plan to display them.

5) Change your name and address on any magazine subscriptions or book club memberships.

6) Check your luggage to be sure it is adequate and in good condition.

The next installment of the Bride's Timetable will discuss some of the last minute preparations to be added to your checklist two weeks before your wedding.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

MRS. BILLIE EUGENE WINCHELL
(Christine Mary Tallon)

Tallon-Winchell Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tallon of 1403 Dean Street, Schenectady, announce the marriage of their daughter, Christine Mary, to Billie Eugene Winchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Winchell of 210 Harwich Street, Kingston.

The Rev. Terence Healy officiated at the ceremony Saturday, June 15 at St. Helen's Church, Schenectady.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a white silk organza gown styled with a scooped neckline trimmed with floral Viennese lace. The gown was fashioned with an Empire waistline and short puffed sleeves also trimmed with lace. Her full skirt terminated in a chapel-length train. A wide panel of floral Viennese lace accented the front of the gown from the neckline to the hemline. She wore a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of daisies and white carnations.

Miss Susan Mary Tallon was maid of honor for her sister in a pink chiffon dress of floral design. The scooped neckline was trimmed with a ruffle. She wore a white picture hat with pink veiling and carried a bouquet of daisies and pink carnations.

Robert S. Winchell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was given at Veeder's Restaurant, Colonie.

The bride, a graduate of Nskayuna High School, received her AAS degree in Secretarial Science from State University of New York at Delhi. She is employeed as a secretary in the Gas Turbine Department at General Electric Company, Schenectady. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Ulster County Community College where he earned his AAS degree in Mechanical Technology, is employed as a designer in the Steam Turbine Department at GE Company, Schenectady.

After a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Winchell will reside at 559 Manhattan Street, Schenectady.

CYO Poetry Contest Winners Selected

Winners in the 10th annual poetry writing contest sponsored by Catholic Youth Organization have been announced by Leo A. Schupp, county director. The contest was open to boys and girls from the sixth to eighth grades. Authored on subjects selected by the contestants, winning poems were chosen by a panel of judges.

A CYO Gold Medal was awarded to Ruth Andreassen for her poem entitled "A Winter's Morn." Steven Heigmeier of St. Peter's in Rosendale received a Silver Medal for his comical poem, "Health Food." A Silver Medal for second place went to Bill Szymanski of Immaculate Conception School, Kingston, for his entry, "A Chair for a Beat." Third placewinners included Karrol Broadie of St. Cabrini for her poem entitled "Friend;" Barbara Mulligan, St. Peter's, Rosendale, for "Sunshine on the Water;" Teri Vendetti, Immaculate Conception School, for "Rainbow." They received Bronze Medals.

Honorable mentions were awarded to James Buono for "The Boston Tea Party;" Nancy Voerg for "A Grandmother;" and Judith Hopf for "Songs of the Season."

Y-Wives Elect Officers, Name Committees

The annual dinner meeting of Y-Wives Club of the YWCA was held June 12 at the Teahouse of the Gasho of Japan restaurant in Central Valley. Reelected for the coming year were president, Mrs. Fred A. Schoonmaker; vice-president, Mrs. William T. Devine; secretary, Mrs. William J. Schreiber, and treasurer, Mrs. William E. Barnes. Mrs. Schoonmaker was presented with flowers and a cake from the members. Executive committee will be membership: Mrs. Robert P. Slover; hospitality, Mrs. Robert W. Hughes; service, Mrs. David A. Van Etten; cheer, Mrs. Francis M. Short, and publicity, Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner.

Several fund-raising projects were held during the year which enabled Y-Wives to make a donation to the YWCA at the end of the club year. Service projects include making birthday cakes for patients at the Infirmary Annex at Golden Hill, Christmas gifts for use all year at the Children's Rehabilitation Center, tray favors for Infirmary Annex patients and making Christmas wreaths for YWCA holiday decorations. Individual members also work on all YWCA events as well as in various community projects. Social events include two dinner-dances each year as well as Husband's Night. Serving on the Board of Directors from Y-Wives is Mrs. Schreiber who is chairman of the Plant and Equipment Committee of the YWCA.

The club will resume on September 19 with a covered dish supper at which time projects and programs for the year will be scheduled. Y-Wives Club meets the first and third Thursday of each month. New members are always welcome.

WHEN YOU CAN'T FIND TWO BOY SCOUTS

Dear Folks:

Here's a new one I just learned from a friend . . .

When you put a new flint in a cigarette lighter, you know how hard it is to start it working again? Because the flint is square on the new end?

All you have to do is run the little wheel (that's the gadget your thumb goes on to start the fire) backwards a few times with your thumb!

This shapes it immediately and it starts very easily thereafter.

Also remember to always keep an extra flint in the bottom of your lighter embedded in the cotton. This way you'll never be without one.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When chopping food, I find that if I put my chopping board on a large tray (a plastic one is great), it's not only a work saver, but a life and limb saver.

Should there be any bits left from your chopping, they will fall or drain off into the tray and not onto your floor.

One day I was chopping something and a bit fell onto the floor. Of course, I stepped on it — and fell and broke my leg. Since then, needless to say, I use the tray.

May Syl

Dear Heloise:

Seems as if I read between the lines in some of your letters . . .

Please tell your readers that "Nobody drives anyone crazy! People get themselves in that position . . ."

Psychiatrist Reader

Thank you for your letter, kind sir! Please write again. I think my readers would love to hear from you.

Do you agree folks? Let me know. Write to me in care of this paper. Your letters do not have to be signed to appear in my column!

love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

You know those little corn holders that are always jabbing you when left loose in the kitchen drawers?

Well, I used a small glass that was an "odd fellow," but just too pretty to throw away. I dropped the corn holders in it and set the glass in the corner of one of my shelves above my sink.

The glass is now serving some useful purpose and no more pricked fingers when reaching hurridly into the drawer for something.

Mrs. James Williams

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a probem write to Heloise in care of The Daily Freeman. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individuals letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

La Leche League Announces New Leader

Kingston La Leche League has announced Mrs. Linda Donaldson has completed the necessary training required to become a La Leche League leader, as recognized by La Leche League International. She now joins Mrs. Pan Usticke, Mrs. Ruth Scogna and Mrs. Cheri Andrews as leader of the two Kingston groups and will share responsibility for conducting monthly meetings and for telephone counseling.

In order to become a a La Leche League leader, Mrs. Donaldson had to do extensive reading on breastfeeding, nutrition, childbirth and childcare, then had to become familiar with and accept the La Leche League philosophy and policies and, finally, to have nursed a baby of her own according to the La Leche League philosophy.

Mrs. Donaldson has been active in the Kingston La Leche League for almost two years and before that was a member of La Leche League in Rhode Island. She holds a Masters Degree in Guidance and has worked as a counselor in secondary schools. She has taught junior and senior high school for seven years, mainly in inner city schools. She resides in Saugerties with her husband Bob, manager at Mitchell Transport Inc., Cementon, and their two sons, Robbie, 2, and Christopher, 3 months.

La Leche League began in a suburb of Chicago in 1956 and has grown into a large organization of more than 1700 groups. The local La Leche League was founded in September 1970 by Pan Usticke. Each year, more than 100 women have been in touch with the League for information, support and encouragement about breastfeeding and other related areas, either at the monthly meetings or through the League's telephone counseling service.

In November 1973, a second La Leche League was formed in Kingston to better serve Ulster County. The mother-to-mother-approach is best served through small meetings for 12-20 people but Kingston's meetings were drawing 30-40 women each month.

Kingston East meets the third Tuesday of each month and Kingston West, the last Wednesday. Meetings are held at a member's home.

Any La Leche League leader may be contacted for detailed information.

LINDA DONALDSON, seated at left with three month old son, Chris, received her Leadership Card from Kingston's La Leche League after having completed necessary study requirements. Seated with her is Pan Usticke, leader and founder of Kingston LaLeche League. She holds her daughter, Roxanne, age two weeks. Also serving LaLeche members as leaders are, standing (L-R) Cheri Andrews and Ruth Scogna. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

KHS Valedictorian, Salutatorian

GERALDINE T. MULLARKEY

SANDRA KATZ

Kingston High School Principal Dan H. Allen has announced that Geraldine T. Mullarkey and Sandra Katz are, respectively, the Valedictorian and Salutatorian of the Class of 1974.

Miss Mullarkey, of Box 29C, Cedar Street, Tillson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mullarkey. Mr. Mullarkey is employed by AT&T at Maple Hill in Rosendale. Miss Mullarkey will graduate with an average of 97.048.

She will attend Union College in Schenectedy, where she will be majoring in pre-law.

Sandra Katz, this year's Salutatorian, is the daughter of Jack and Rachelle Katz of 169 Downs Street, Kingston. Mr. Katz is employed at IBM as a lab specialist. Having attained an average of 96.788, Miss Katz is interested in being a college counselor as well as violinist with a major symphony orchestra.

Baccalaureate for the Kingston High School Class of 1974 will be held Sunday, June 23, at the Fair Street Reformed Church at 7 p.m. The speaker will be Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman of the Congregation Ahavath Israel.

Commencement will be held Tuesday, June 25, at Dietz Stadium at 8 p.m.

Annual Piano Recital Given

The piano students of Mrs. Roberta C. Hastings presented their annual recital on Tuesday evening, June 18 for their families and friends.

The recital was held at John A. Coleman High School on Hurley Avenue. Pieces were presented from a wide variety of composers including Chopin, Tschaikowsky, Mozart, Rimsky-Korsakov, Debussy, Liszt, Franck, Rubinstein, Grieg, Saint-Saens and several modern artists.

The following students participated: Sheila Beller, Patty Boyle, Elaine Cannon, David Cooke, Michael Fisher, Peter Fisher, Cynthia Grimaldi, Karen Gubinski, Debbie Kogon, Mindy Langer, Kathleen Mahoney, Sherri McCreary, Tracy Meyer, Debra Parnett, Laurie Pettengill, Diane Schlichting, Benny Sottile, Patti Van Laon, Betsy Weishaupt, and Peter Weishaupt.

Students Receive Scholarships from Alumni Group

Two Ulster County Community College students have received scholarships awarded by the newly formed College Alumni Association.

The two are Robert Smith, Black Alder Road, Shokan, and Miss Robin Currie, 8 Church Street, Highland.

Mr. Smith, a Liberal Arts-Social Science major, graduated this June from UCCC and is transferring to Rhode Island College.

Miss Robin Currie, a freshman, is enrolled in the program at UCCC, and will be returning to the Stone Ridge campus for her sophomore year in September.

Keith Jordan, Alumni Association president, said the association was pleased to provide scholarship assistance to UCCC students.

"One of the association's goals is service," he said, "and we feel one of the best ways we can do this is through scholarships."

Mr. Jordan said he hopes the Alumni Association can make even more scholarships available in the future.

The Association raised funds for its scholarships through the sponsorship of a Harlem Globetrotters basketball game, an Alumni basketball game and various other events.

MARRIED 35 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Deuire of 174 Foxhall Avenue, Kingston, were guests of honor recently at a party marking their 35th wedding anniversary. City Hall Restaurant on Hasbrouck Avenue in Kingston was the location for the gala occasion and hosting the anniversary celebration were the Deuire children, Mrs. Edward (Rose) Boyle, Mrs. Richard (Catherine) Ellis and John Deuire. The Deuires were married on June 18, 1939 in St. Colman's Church, East Kingston by the Rev. George McGweeny. Theresa Tiano was honor attendant for her sister and Joseph Cavilier of Bridgeport, Conn., had been best man. Mrs. Deuire is the former Catherine (Kay) Tiano, daughter of the late Vincenzo and Rose Tiano of East Kingston. Her husband is the son of the late John Deuire and Cathrine Deuire Orfino of Kingston. Mr. Deuire is a supervisor for Kingston Knitting Mills, Inc., and has been employed there for the past 38 years. The couple received congratulatory messages and gifts from more than 75 relatives and friends attending from Kingston and Connecticut. (Freeman photo by Carey)

July 4th Baby Parade Planned

Saugerties Jayncees will sponsor a Baby Parade at Cantine Field on 4th of July. Any child between the age of three months and five years is eligible to enter.

Children are to be dressed in costume. These costumes should reflect the theme of this year's celebration "Highlights of America's Past." Contestants will be judged solely on the originality of costumes.

The baby parade will begin at 1:15 p.m. All contestants are to be at the field at 1 p.m. The winner and runner-up will each receive a gift certificate from London's Children's Stores.

Glamour World Pageant Plans Nearing Completion

A full day's activities have been planned for the 1974 national Galmour World Pageant at Poughkeepsie's Camelot Inn which will attract models from all over the United States. Registration for the girls will start early Saturday, June 29, followed by orientation and social get-togethers. Various seminars on T.V., charm, runway techniques, with closed circuit T.V. lecture and demonstration will take place on Sunday.

Rehearsals will precede the actual pageant and luncheon, which the public may attend at 1:00 p.m., during which the model contestants compete for the five crowns. There will be five queens chosen (one in each age category) . . . Galmour World Model of the Year, Miss Glamour World, Teen Model of the year, Junior Miss Glamour World, and Little Miss Glamour World. The pageant is open only to qualified, certified models who are being selected and entered from modeling schools throughout the country.

There are more than 60 girls participating from the Poughkeepsie area who will parade in daytime, sportswear and party outfits. They will be judged in general projection, ability to perform as a model, and overall potential as a professional model.

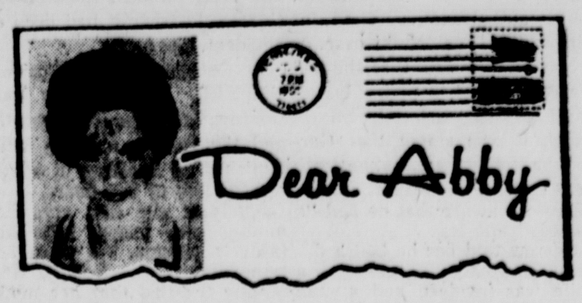

The judges will include Dean Jack Rittenberg from New York City's Fashion Institute of Technology; Miss Fran Russell, fashion coordinator; and Miss June Dally-Watkins from Australia, who has charm schools throughout the far east and New Zealand.

The awards will be presented after the competition by Estelle & Alfonso. Last year's Miss Glamour World will appear to crown her successor, Miss Dutchess County, Pat Hartzell, will also be present.

The Pageant promises to be an experience, not only for the observers, but also for the participants who will have an opportunity to meet with other models from other parts of the country to compare techniques, regional requirements, various community involvements, or just to make new and lasting friends.

The activities, starting at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 30 are open to the public. Tickets are available at Estelle & Alfonso, Inc., 103 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie.

Commercial Bank Teller Makes a $1000 Mistake

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. ($1,000.) As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one else seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man — he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should count all money twice before handing it over, and then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back.

I think after keeping house for my father for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N.Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M": A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. (This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.)

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Group Assisting Foster Children Plans Meeting

Ulster County Action for Foster Children Committee will meet Thursday, June 27 at 7:30 p.m. at Heritage Saving Bank, 273 Wall Street, Kingston. The meeting will be open to the public and any interested person is invited to attend.

At a meeting held earlier this month, representatives from Mental Health Center, Youth Services Committee, Parents and Children Together (PACT), Children's Home, St. Cabrini Home, Department of Social Services and foster parents met to express their concern for the needs of children in Ulster County.

The Committee will focus its attention on educating the public to the continuing needs of children, recruiting foster parents and improving the image of foster parents.

Psychiatrist to Take Stand in Garrow Trial

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (AP) — A psychiatrist was summoned to Robert Garrow's murder trial today in an attempt to prove Garrow was insane when Philip Domblewski was stabbed to death.

Dr. Franklin Reed of the Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse was the first of two psychiatrists who will testify for the defense, said Garrow s attorney, Francis Belge.

Dist. Atty. William Intemann said as many as three psychiatrists and two psychologists may testify in the prosecution's effort to substantiate Garrow's legal sanity.

Garrow has confessed that he "hit" Domblewski, 18, of Schenectady, with a knife during a struggle in Speculator last July 29. But he has repeatedly testified that he was only able to piece his actions together through information from his attorneys and authorities.

Belge said that in order to be found legally insane a person disease or defect so that he does not know the act is wrong or does not appreciate the nature or consequences of his act."

In testimony Thursday, Garrow's sister, Mrs. Agnes Mandy, said she treated a cut on Garrow's hand, July 16, the day Susan Petz, 21, of Skokie, Ill., was stabbed to death.

"must be possessed of a mental

Garrow has testified he was cut on the hand when he grabbed a knife from Miss Petz in an argument because she would not remove her blouse the day she was killed.

Garrow is only on trial for Domblewski's murder. But he has also admitted in his testimony the stabbing of Miss Petz's companion Daniel Porter, 22, of Concord, Mass., as well as the strangling last summer of Alicia Hauck, 16, in Syracuse.

Mrs. Mandy also testified that Garrow, tired, hungry and nervous, visited her Aug. 6, while authorities searched for him in the Domblewski case.

Mrs. Mandy said that she and Garrow heard a news broadcast in her living room in which it was stated that Garrow had stolen a car. She testified Garrow said that authorities were aware that he had "a hot car ' and left.

Garrow told her he had a difficult time obtaining gasoline, a knife was involved and a man had been stabbed, she testified. Garrow told her it had been an accident, she said.

In testimony about Garrow's childhood, Mrs. Mandy said Garrow, was frequently beaten and the Garrow children were punished by kneeling in a corner for four or five hours.

She said she had seen her mother take money from her father's pockets, but when her father asked who took it, Mrs. Mandy testified that her mother would say it must have been the children.

Her father sometimes came home drunk and passed out on a dirt road in front of the house, she said. She said her mother placed railroad ties on either side of her father so that cars would not run over him and left him there.

Garrow's mother, Marguerite, testified briefly. Most of her testimony was unintelligible because of a speaking difficulty, although Hamilton County Court Judge George Marthen and Belge attempted to interpret her. She said she did not recall beatings and was often outside the house working.

Garrow's father arrived at the courthouse by ambulance on a stretcher but was unable to testify for the defense because of a heart condition which has paralyzed him, Belge said.

Two Die In Crash

DOVER, N.J. (UPI) — Following an eight-hour air search, the wreckage of a single-engine Piper Cherokee airplane and the bodies of two persons who died in it were found Thursday in an isolated swamp area of Sparta Township.

Police identified the victims as Daniel Isocowitz, 33, of Cliffside Park, the pilot of the rented plane, and his female companion, Lorraine Marks, 31, of Englewood. Their bodies had been tossed from the wreckage.

Police said the plane had taken off from Dutchess County Airport in Wappinger Falls, N.Y. The white Piper Cherokee Arrow had been rented from Fischer Aviation Co. in Teterboro.

Col. Herbert J. Cole of the CAP, who coordinated the air search, said the last radio contact with the plane was shortly after it left a New York state airport at 10 p.m. Tuesday. It was not reported missing until Thursday because no flight plan had been filed, he said.

Cole said five light planes and one helecopter began the search at 8 a.m. Thursday. The plane was located about 1 p.m. by a radio signal emitted by an emergency transmitter activated by the crash.

The bodies had been thrown from the plane. Police said Iscowitz' body, which was wedged in a rock pile, was only partially burned, leading to speculation that the plane was low on gas or out of fuel when it crashed.

Cole said the Federal Aviation Administration would begin an investigation into the cause of the crash today. He said the plane had apparently been following an indirect flight route by radio signals which led through Sparta en route to Teterboro.

Con Ed Files $208 Million Law Suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Consolidated Edison Co., claiming it has been hurt financially by the high cost of fuel and facing possible blackouts, is suing five major oil companies for $208 million.

Con Ed said Thursday it was seeking $156 million in antitrust damages and $52 million in punitive damages.

The anti-trust action filed in U.S. District Court alleged the five firms conspired to monopolize shipments of low sulphur oil from the Persian Gulf for the purpose of increasing costs. The results have, Con Ed said, endangered the East Coast electric supply.

The suit cited Standard Oil Co. of California, Texaco Inc. of New york, Mobil Oil Corp., Chevron Oil Trading Co. and Texaco Overseas Petroleum Co. with restraining oil deliveries to the East Coast.

In New York, Texaco termed the Con Ed complaint "simply incredible."

A Texaco spokesman said "that we should be accused of conspiracy by an American company for attempting to protect our legal interest in properties which have been illegally seized is simply incredible."

In San Francisco, a Standard Oil spokesman said "we believe this suit is without foundation."

The utility's court papers said that it had fuel bills increased by $50 million since last September.

School Budget . . . Hike Looms

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON — It's a good thing the 1974-75 tax bill for the Kingston School District doesn't have to be paid by the handful who attended Thursday night's public hearing on the $18,892,725 budget. If it did, each of the 25 school board members, administrators, reporters and taxpayers in the audience would face a tax bill of more than $750,000.

Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairman of the School Board's Business Management Committee, gave the budget a page-by-page review and noted that the almost $18.9 million document would have to be upped by about $900,000 to take care of increases for the district's teachers, administrators, secretaries, and custodial maintenance workers. Tentative agreements have been reached with the first three groups and negotiations are still under way with the custodial group, Mrs. Corsones revealed.

Although the tentative budget represents an increase of slightly more than $1 million over this year's figure, there is a possibility that tax rates in the district may be lowered. The increase in total appropriations was more than wiped out by a $1.4 million increase in estimated revenues, leaving the district with a decreased tax levy. Rates per thousand in the various towns will not be available until the final personnel contract increases are known and towns submit their total assessment and equalization figures to the district in August.

One of the major cost increases this year is for fuel and other utilities. Fuel oil more than doubles from $109,000 to $225,000 while electric and heating gas goes from $200,000 to $275,000.

Transportaion, which goes up from $926,61 to $980,740, brought a protest from Frank Sass.

"Transportation costs were $10,000 in 1949," he said. "Now they are nearly a million. Something must be done."

Sass also maintained that the district's transportation policy favored city children over those from rural areas. Board member H. Peter Hoffman noted that city children were required to walk longer distances than their rural counterparts.

"I'd rather walk two miles in the city than 1½ miles in the country," Hoffman said, noting that city children walk on sidewalks and are protected by traffic lights and crossing guards.

"That's not an argument," Sass replied. "The City of Kingston pays for lights, guards and sidewalks, not the school district."

A breakdown of appropriations in the new budget shows 14.32 per cent for general support, 54.7 per cent for instruction, .04 per cent for community services, and 25.98 per cent for undistributed costs, which include employe benefits, interfund transfers, and debt service charges. Estimated revenues will come from property taxes (49.17) and state aid (50), plus small amounts from charges for services, use of money, compensation for losses, and the ever-present "miscellaneous."

The district will make final payments on two school bond issues this year. A final $10,000 wipes out the Hurley School issue on Oct. 1 and a final $150,000 takes the Edson School issue off the books Dec. 1. In addition, the district will make a final $48,000 payment for the field house roof.

Mrs. Corsones again praised the administration for its part in wiping out a $200,000 deficit since the beginning of the current year and said the district would start the new year in the black on July 1. The district also purchased its entire stock of paper for 1974-75 from the current budget, she noted.

The board meets Wednesday afternoon for final adjustments to the new budget, which will be acted on at the final meeting of the current year at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, June 27, in the Crown Street administration center. The reorganizational meeting will be held in the same place July 1.

Job Training Program 'Successful'

By WADE BURKHART

HIGHLAND — The Highland Community Center is currently in the middle of a thus far successful Learn and Earn Program, designed to introduce the children of migrant workers recently settled in the area to "the world of work."

The program, for youths aged 14 to 21, is administered in Highland by Carole A. Johnson. She said Thursday of the program and the youths it serves, "We're trying to motivate them into something other than just picking fruit and moving from town to town."

To do this, the five youths in the program — Joseph Parson, Tina Williams, Lavanne Parson, Johnny Parson, and Angela Napier — after counseling and special programs designed to reinforce good work habits, were found jobs.

The jobs found for the youths include clerical and reception work at St. Augustine's Church in Highland, library work at the World Study Center of the library at the State University College at New Paltz, and with New Paltz architect Jedd Reisner.

Ms. Johnson said Joseph Parson had expressed an interest in going on to college to study architecture, and he began work with Reisner this week.

During the school year the youths, all currently enrolled in school, work 15 hours a week. Beginning Monday they will work 35 hours a week, Ms. Johnson said. The youths are paid $2 per hour, from program funds.

Money for the program comes from Program Funding Inc. (PFI), which is based in Rochester. PFI gets its money from both the State Bureau of Migrant Education and the State Labor Department.

The Highland Community Center has received $4,200 from PFI for the nine-week program, which began May 1 and will end July 5. Ms. Johnson said it is hoped the program will then be refunded by PFI to last through the rest of the year. It has been proposed that the program be funded for a total of $17,000 for the year, and expanded to serve 10 youths instead of the present five.

The Learn and Earn Program at the Highland center is one of four currently being carried out in the state. The Highland center serves the Towns of Lloyd and Marlboro, and the Clintondale area.

The youths in the program, in addition to learning "how to locate a job, how to apply for a job, and how to set career goals", said Ms. Johnson, are also experiencing some personal development as a result of the program. She said they were gaining more confidence in themselves, and in their dealings with others.

The families, too, are involved in the program, and Ms. Johnson said this had been a benefit to them as well.

In addition to the work experience and supportive counseling, the special programs for the youths have included two dinner meetings, with films and speakers from industry and the State Labor Department, and a tour of the Kingston IBM plant to introduce them to work in an industrial setting. Also, the State Employment Office in Poughkeepsie was visited, to familiarize them with the services available through the state.

The youths were selected for the program from several sources, including referral from other agencies and the school, and self-referral. One of the qualifications for the program is that the youths are not to have lived in the area for more than four years. Ms. Johnson said none of those currently in the program had been residents of the area for more than two years.

Instructor Institute For Park Leaders

KINGSTON — The Kingston City Recreation Department will kick off its annual summer playground schedule with a three day Playground Directors Training Institute on June 24-26 according to an announcement by Andrew J. Murphy III, superintendent.

The playground directors Training Institue is an annual event and signals the start of the summer season. The institute is sanctioned by the New York State Division for Youth and at the completion of the Institute each participant is awarded a New York State Training Certificate. In the past, many participants have have received partial college credits for attending the institute.

The program will open at 10 a.m. on Monday, with a welcome by Murphy and other Recreation Department officials and will close at noon, Wednesday, with the issuing of playground equipment to the directors. The parks should all be open by about 1 p.m. on Wednesday.

A number of topics from past years will be covered including softball umpiring, nature study, safety and first aid, child psychology, reading and storytelling, active games and quite games, arts and crafts.

Professor Robert Kurland of Ulster County Community College will discuss The Child and His Environment.

Superintendent Murphy will discuss The Responsibility of the Playground Director while Sharon Humphrey of the Recreation Department staff will cover Accident Reports and Attendance Procedures.

Joe Mannello, a former playground director at Hutton Park in the late 1960's and early 1970's succeeds Ron Gabriele as the Summer Activities Director at the Kingston Recreation Department. Manello is a graduate of Marist College and teaches at the John A. Coleman High School during the school year.

Gabriele, formerly a physical education instructor in the Kingston City Schools Consolidated and varisty cross-country and varsity swim coach at Kingston High School, is leaving the area to become Athletic Director at the Columbia - Green Community College in Hudson.

Gabriele has been with the Recreation Department since 1967 and was instrumental in setting up the annual Children's Day Parade and a number of other summer events at the Recreation Department.

DCC Executive Dean Accepts Post at Monroe

POUGHKEEPSIE — Robert McKinney, executive dean of Dutchess Community College and an administrator for the past 16 years, has resigned to become vice president for faculty affairs at Monroe Community College.

With his new duties at Monroe, a public two-year college near Rochester, N. Y., he will be responsible for its academic program and faculty development.

Among civic interests since coming to Dutchess County in 1958, Dr. McKinney has worked in United Way and Family Counseling Service, having served as president of the board of directors for both organizations.

He took a leadership role in the establishment of the Dutchess County Committee for Economic Opportunity and served as its president in 1967-68. He was also a chartermember of the board of directors of the Poughkeepsie Area Fund.

Dr. McKinney and his family plan to take up residence in the Rochester area in late August.

Reed Chooses to Retire

EXIT FOR WILLIS — New York Knicks' Coach-GM Red Holzman (L) talks to newsmen during press conference Thursday at the NBA meeting in New York. Holzman said that Knick captain and center Willis Reed will not be playing with the team next season. The move was prompted by Reed's decision not to undergo knee surgery. Reed has two years to go on his contract and his future is undecided. (UPI)

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Knicks captain Willis Reed, the dominant force in the Knicks' 1969-70 National Basketball Association championship drive, decided Thursday he'd rather retire than face the surgeon's knife.

The 6-9 center, a veteran of 10 years in the NBA, was faced with undergoing surgery to play again, and he decided not to elect an operation.

"An examination by Drs. Donald O'Donoghue and James Nicholas has shown that it is necessary for Reed to undergo surgery behind his right knee," said Knicks' Coach-General Manager Red Holzman at the NBA meetings. "However, Willis has decided not to undergo this surgery and therefore he will not be playing with the New York Knicks next season."

Holzman said Reed, who'll be 32 next Tuesday, gave considerable thought in making up his mind about the surgery. "He took his time—about 10 days—to decide. We'll be losing a great, great ball player and a great, great person."

Holzman said since he, Reed and Larry Fleischer of the NBA Players' Association had not yet discussed the matter, he could not offer any opinions on what Reed's future role with the club would be, if any.

"I don't know what is possible," Holzman said. "I haven't talked to Willis yet or to Larry Fleischer of the NBA Players' Association. I don't know whether he'll accept less money, whether he will coach or anything else until after I talk to him."

"No one has had a chance to talk with Willis yet," Fleischer added. "He knew a half an hour ago there would be a press conference, but he didn't want to rush in.

"He's been injured a number of times and he's been through a lot of heartache."

Fleischer also said he would be surprised if Reed lost any money by his refusal to undergo surgery. "I'd be shocked if his refusal to undergo an operation caused any breach of his contract. No athlete's contract is written that way."

Reed has two years to go on a contract that calls for nearly $300,000 per year. Included in the contract is a no-cut provision that applies even if injured.

The 6-foot-9, 240 pound Reed, who comes from Bernice, La., was a second-round pick of the Knicks from Grambling in 1964 and was the only player to be named the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs in two different years—1970 and 1973.

Reed was the league's MVP for the 1969-70 season and the MVP in the 1970 All-Star game.

This past season he appeared in only 19 games and averaged 11.1 points per game as compared to his 18.7 for his career. In the playoffs, Reed averaged 3.4 points per game this year, contrasted to his overall average of 17.4 points in his 78 playoffs games.

Boxing Threatened At Madison Square

NEW YORK (UPI) — It isn't very pleasant to hear someone saying that the business you have given your life to may go out of business, and that's the way Harry Markson, retired president of Madison Square Garden Boxing, felt Thursday when the corporation indicated it would consider dropping boxing in a year if the old racket proved unprofitable.

Getting to his feet, Markson said in a shaking voice: "I'm sorry. I'm a boxing man, and, no offense, you're a bottom line man.

"I hope you'll forgive me," Markson continued, "but Madison Square Garden means boxing throughout the world, and I want to see Garden boxing remain in the main stream of the sport."

Alan N. Cohen, president and chief executive officer of the Garden complex who is the "bottom line" man Markson referred to, had said that while he certainly wants Garden boxing to continue, he has reservations because of unfavorable state income tax laws which make top flight fighters unwilling to come here.

Garden officials have been shaken by Gov. Malcolm Wilson's veto of a bill which would have exempted fighters from state levies on revenue generated by TV income outside of the state. That tax, according to the Garden, cost it the chance to promote the George Foreman-Joe Frazier fight and the September clash of Foreman and Muhammad Ali.

"Boxing is part of the Garden," Cohen said, "and I don't want what I'm saying to sound like a threat, but at the gloomiest, there is a good chance we would have to discontinue our boxing efforts unless we can have the big fight."

The first collision of boxing and the state over TV-generated revenue arose with "The Fight" classic of Ali and Frazier in March of 1971. The state wanted $350,000 from each man, and only after prolonged negotiations did the state cut the amount by about $70,000 for each fighter.

The Garden had been convinced that the measure making such tax exemptions statutory would be signed by the governor and his rejection of the bill stunned Cohen and the entire upper administrative echelon of the Garden.

Hunter Tough In 'Big Ones'

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Putting your money on Jim Hunter for a "big" game is like investing it in blue-chip stock.

Hunter is fast gaining a reputation as a "money" pitcher—the kind who performs best under pressure in an important game—and the 28-year-old righthander feels most comfortable in such a situation.

The Oakland A's ace pitched an important game against the red-hot Kansas City Royals Thursday night and came through with a five-hit shutout in leading his club to a 4-0 victory that preserved their lead in the American League West.

"I enjoy pitching in a game which calls for some bearing down. You like to throw in an important game and over a long season there just aren't that many of them," said Hunter.

Of course, winning a big game is nothing new to Hunter. Last season he pitched a shutout against Baltimore in the decisive fifth game of the AL playoffs, then won the crucial sixth game of the World Series against the New York Mets. And the year before, he won two games in the World Series, including the decisive seventh game when he worked in relief after starting the second and fifth games.

The A's, who had been in a slump of late and had seen their lead in the West Division dwindle to one-half game over Kansas City, increased their lead to one and a half games after Thursday night's victory. Kansas City had entered the game with six victories in their last eight outings, while Oakland had lost eight of its last 11.m

"You can't ask for a better guy to be out there on the mound when you need a big win in the opener of an important series," said A's Manager Alvin Dark.

"He's the best money pitcher in the league," added Oakland third baseman Sal Bando.

Hunter, who picked up his first victory in nearly a week, struck out four and walked none in boosting his record to 9-8. Only one runner got as far as third base.

Dick Green provided a two-run homer and Bert Campaneris, back in the lineup after missing seven games because of a hand injury, collected three hits as the A's pinned the loss on Al Fitzmorris, now 6-3.

In the only other scheduled AL games, Minnesota beat Chicago 3-2, Milwaukee blanked Baltimore 6-0 and Texas defeated California 7-4.

New York beat Philadelphia 2-1 and Chicago shutout Pittsburgh 3-0 in the only National League action.

Twins 3, White Sox 2

Tony Oliva's three-run homer in the eighth inning lifted the Twins to victory over the White Sox and prevented Wilbur Wood from winning his 12th game. Wood, who had allowed only four hits over the first seven innings, was touched for two singles in the eighth before Oliva unloaded his fourth homer of the year. Bill Sharp homered for the White Sox.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0

John Briggs' grand-slam homer in the first inning and combined six-hit pitching of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy enabled the Brewers to defeat the Orioles. The victory, which came less than 24 hours after the Brewers were no-hitted by Kansas City's Steve Busby, was only Milwaukee's second in its last 10 games.

Rangers 7, Angels 4

Pinch-hitter Tom Grieve's three-run double triggered a four-run seventh inning that carried the Rangers to victory over the Angels. Grieve delivered his bases-loaded shot as a pinch-hitter for Duke Sims, then scored himself on a double by Toby Harrah.

Mets 2, Phillies 1

Rusty Staub doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and Jerry Koosman survived numerous jams to pitch the Mets to victory over the Phillies. Koosman allowed 11 hits but pitched out of a bases-loaded situation in the third and a two-on jam in fourth, fifth and ninth innings to win his seventh game.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0

Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams hit homers to support Rick Reuschel's first shutout of the season as the Cubs snapped the Pirates' six-game winning streak. Reuschel, who scattered 12 hits, allowed at least one hit in every inning, but was pulled out of jams twice by double plays and also struck out seven.

WALT BELLAMY

Walt Retires; Blasts Hawks

ATLANTA (AP) — Walt Bellamy announced his retirement from the National Basketball Association Thursday, charging the Atlanta Hawks played a "con game" to get him to New Orleans.

"I really want to play but it seems I have been forced to retire," the four-time NBA All Star who has scored more than 20,000 points in his 13-year career said at a news conference. "New Orleans surely didn't want the services of Walt Bellamy but as part of the Pete Maravich deal, they had to take me.

Maravich left the Hawks for New Orleans in May in a trade for draft choices and two of New Orleans' picks in the expansion draft.

Atlanta had to lose one player in that draft, and Bellamy contends he was shoved on New Orleans as part of the Maravich package.

"It was nothing but a con game on the part of the Hawks," he said.

Bellamy, who has played with five NBA clubs, including Atlanta for the last 4½ years, said he also objected to "a lack of communication."

No Change Planned In Reserve Clause

NEW YORK (UPI) — Try as they might, the National Basketball Association Board of Governors couldn't pick Commissioner Walter Kennedy's successor Thursday—but they did reject an abolition of the controversial option clause.

Kennedy, who has already resigned but will serve either until June 1, 1975 or until his successor is found, said that most of Thursday's meeting "was taken up with the discussion of a proposal negotiated between the NBA and the Players Association. The proposal would have eliminated the option clause, to be replaced by a form of right of first refusal for a team giving up a player at the time he finishes his contract."

But the owners rejected the proposal flatly.

Bring About Merger

"They didn't even have to take a vote," Kennedy said. The vote brought an abrupt halt to attempts to bring about a merger of the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

The NBA's top executive said that no compensation for a team losing a player was included in the proposed elimination of the reserve clause. The right of first refusal would give a team, whose player is playing out his option and negotiating with another team, the right to match to new and higher offer within 15 days before the player could jump teams.

"Because of this," Kennedy said, "no discussion of a possible accommodation with the ABA came up—by a merger, through legislation or through a court of law.

"The Players Association must also be satisfied because they are an interested party."

The Players Association has an injunction against the merger of the two league, filed in 1970, which was upheld by Justice Robert Carter of the Southern District of New York Federal Court.

Larry Fleischer, attorney for the Players Association, called the action "absurd, astonishing—this is not a proposal, this is a settlement.

"But I wasn't really shocked," Fleischer said. "After yesterday, I began to be really wary. I didn't believe anything the owners would produce from this meeting would be meaningful in any way. Nothing that was discussed leads me to believe the owners want the players to have any kind of freedom."

Be Achieved

Fleischer said it was now up to the owners to determine if a merger with the ABA can be achieved.

"The players have no more responsibility after this meeting. It's up to the owners to gain acceptance in the future," Fleischer said.

After meeting more than nine hours Wednesday, the owners temporarily tabled further discussion of a successor for Kennedy and took up their television schedule and a report from legal counsel on the development of several lawsuits in which the league was involved.

Mahovlich to Toros

TORONTO (UPI) — Frank Mahovlich, a star winger for 20 years in the National Hockey League, says it was the secure future offered him by the Toronto Toros which brought him to the World Hockey Association.

"I signed for four years and I'm happy," Mahovlich told reporters at an afternoon news conference Thursday. The fourth highest scorer in NHL history will receive $1 million over the contract term.

Mahovlich, 36, who scored 533 goals and 570 assists in his 20-year NHL career, said he jumped to the WHA Toros because they had offered him "security for my family and myself and my future."

He added, however, he regretted leaving the Montreal Canadiens, with whom he played for four years. "I'm very sorry to leave Montreal. They gave me a great chance to play on a great hockey club."

Toros' owner John Bassett said Mahovlich is "a great superstar. The Toros are delighted the Big M is home."

Mahovlich played his first 12 years in the NHL with the Toronto Maple Leafs and it was with Toronto that he won his only individual award, the Calder Memorial Trophy as the top rookie in 1957-58.

Toronto dealt Mahovlich to the Detroit Red Wings in the 1967-68 season with Garry Unger, Pete Stemkowski and the rights to Carl Brewer for Paul Henderson, Norm Ullman and Floyd Smith.

Mahovlich came to the Canadiens from Detroit in January, 1971, in exchange for Mickey Redmond, Guy Charron and Bill Collins.

Mahovlich was having considerable trouble coming to terms with the Canadiens on a new contract this year and he was left off the Montreal protected list in the just completed NHL draft.

Park Problem For Indians

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Unless an agreement on a 10-year lease of Cleveland Municipal Stadium is reached by Aug. 1, the Cleveland Indians won't have a place to finish out the season.

"I'm not convinced that the Stadium is the best place to see a baseball game," said Ted Bonda, Indians' executive vice president. "But it can be greatly improved.

"We are still interested in building our own stadium—and in Cleveland. But the interest on the money is making it a very difficult venture."

He said he would like to see the city and Cuyahoga County raise money to improve mass transportation to the Stadium and hinted that he would prefer a one-year extension of the current lease.

"I want to be sure that the things we need to make baseball a better attraction are met before we agree (on a new contract)," Bonda said.

IN ECONOMY CARS, THE DODGE BOYS ARE RIGHT ON TARGET.

DODGE DART SPORT got 27.3 mpg

in the recent USAC "Miles Per Gallon Showdown."

Here are the official results.

A 1974 Dodge Dart Sport with our new standard 2.76 rear axle got 6.1 more miles per gallon than a Chevy Nova and 3.7 more miles per gallon than a Ford Maverick on a 972-mile highway trip averaging 53 mph.

In city driving, Dart Sport got 24.7 miles per gallon, or 8.1 more than Nova. (A 108-mile trip at an average speed of 25 mph.)

In heavy traffic, Dart Sport got 19.1 miles per gallon, or 5.5 more than Nova. (A 61-mile trip at an average speed of 20 mph.)

All results are certified by the United States Auto Club.

All cars mentioned had standard transmissions and six-cylinder engines. Of course the mileage you get depends on many factors including how and when you drive and the condition of your vehicle.

Floyd's 65 Leads

By GENE CADDES

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Did success spoil Ray Floyd?

"Yes," said the first round leader of the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who shot a five-under-par 65 in Thursday's first round, with a record-setting 29 on the front side, is having his best season since 1969 when he won three tournaments, including the PGA championship.

During that year he also won the Jacksonville Open and this same American Golf Classic, setting a Firestone course record in the process with a 12-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I think it made me lazy," Floyd said of his earlier successes. "I got to thinking I was so good I didn't have to practice."

But now he works on his game and credits that, along with his marriage last December, with turning his game around.

"It was the best round I've played in quite a time," said Floyd, who carried a one-shot lead over Brian Allin and a two-stroke edge over Jerry McGee into today's second round.

Floyd blistered the 7,180-yard Firestone course with five birdies in his first six holes, including putts of 25, 35 and 10 feet.

"I just can't remember having a better putting round," he said.

He said he also had several putts on the back side which could have dropped, but didn't. He got his only bogey in his 29-36 round on the 17th hole when he bunkered his second shot.

Allin, a Vietnam veteran and graduate of Brigham Young University, said he played "good" but "not super."

"I played a lot of safety shots," said Allin. "On this golf course, you have to try to make par."

Allin made the turn in one under 34, getting a lone birdie on the 230-yard fifth hole with a 25-foot putt. He birdied the 11th when he hit a nine iron to within 18 inches and finished with birdies on the 16th and 18th with 10 and seven foot putts.

McGee, from New Lexington, failed to qualify for the tournament but got a sponsor's exemption.

Jim Ferriell came in with a two-under 68 to hold fourth place all alone and there were six players, including host pro Bobby Nichols at one under 69. The others included Jim Simons, Gay Brewer, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and Forrest Fezler.

There were another 14 players at even par 70, including Arnold Palmer and former PGA champion Dave Stockton.

Tom Weiskopf, Bert Yancy and Tommy Aaron were among 14 others in at one-over 71, while defending champion Bruce Crampton shot a 72.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin had a rugged first day after his big win, shooting a seven-over-par 77.

It's the Field Against Randall

WOODSTOCK

Leon Randall carried only a one-stroke lead over Vald Hoyt of Woodstock into Saturday's second round of the 1974 Ulster County Amateur Golf Championship at Woodstock Country Club. But the odds against anyone catching or passing the nine-time champion are almost prohibitive.

The tournament has been reduced to 54 holes because of last Sunday's cancellation of the second round at The Twaalfskill Club. The third and final round is scheduled Sunday starting at 8:30 a.m. at Wiltwyck Golf Club. Saturday's round gets under way at 8 a.m.

The 49-player field will be trimmed to the low 27 scorers and ties after 36 holes.

His skills largely undiminished, Randall remains the towering figure in Ulster County amateur golf, now that Harvey Bostic has turned professional. Between them they had shared the previous eight tournaments prior to Rick Barthel's breakthrough in 1974.

Randall goes in at 72, unperturbed that last Sunday's wiped out a front nine 32 at Twaalfskill, on the heels of a back nine 33 at Sawyerkill. The rains had a silver lining for Hoyt, the runnerup, who retains his 73. He had slipped to a 42 at Twaalfskill.

Three players are deadlocked at 77 — George Barber of Sawyerkill, Dr. Henry Jacobs of Wiltyck and Bill Odeneal, the perennial challenger from New Paltz.

Defending champion Rick Barthel may have blown his chances with a surprise first day 85 at Sawyerkill.

If Randall needs any challenge, he might try erasing George Hughes' 54-hold record of 208 set in the first tournament in 1951.

Haynie and Mills Share LPGA Lead

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Sandra Haynie and defending champion Mary Mills, both of whom have overcome serious injuries and hand surgery, fired first round 69s Thursday to share a one stroke lead in the first round of the $50,000 LPGA Championship at Pleasant Valley Cuontry Club.

Miss Haynie, sudden death winner last week in the LPGA's Lawson Open in Medina, Ohio, fashioned her four-under-par round with five birdies and a bogey. Miss Mills started with a birdie and bogey on the front nine then used a hot putter for four birds on the final nine holes.

In third place was Japan's Sayoko Yamazaki, with a round of 70 that included an eagle, three birdies and two bogeys. Those bunched at two strokes back included six-time Japanese Open winner Chako Matsui, who had two eagles, a birdie and two bogeys, Gail Denenberg, Carole Mann and Sandra Post.

Mary Bryan had a hole in one with a three iron shot on the 186-yard, par-three 14th, but had a disappointing 77.

Miss Haynie, playing in the first threesome of the day utilized a new, heavier wedge to get her close to the hole time and again "I'm not the best wedge player in the world and what a delight it is to hit it that close," said the 31-year old veteran, who nearly was killed two years ago when struck by a car in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Miss Haynie's troubles continued last year when she underwent surgery on her right wrist, which still restricts her from coming to the surgery on by back while I was still in my teens, which has cost 20 yards from my distance on drives."

And two years ago she had surgery on her left wrist, which still becomes slightly inflamed on occassion. "But overall, I'm in realy good health," she said

Miss Mills, shut out on the tour this year, said she "was saved by my putter. I have been playing mediocre golf for me but I've been putting real well."

After turning the first nine at par, Miss Mills displayed that hot putter, sinking a 25-foot birdie putt on the 10th hole and following with a four-footer on the 11th. Birdie putts of eight feet on the 14th and 10 feet on the 15th gave her a day's low of 32 for nine holes and a share of the lead.

A total of 14 of the 88 starters equalled or broke par over the 6,130-yard par 75 course.

Pizzeria, Hospital WCS Winners

KINGSTON Bernice Jerry cracked a single and a double and a triple, and Sandy DeCicco, Mary Kren, Aggie Barringer and Camille Lentz all doubled to lead the rout.

Barringer and Lentz racked up four hits each during the game.

Mary Bittner held the Heroes to eight hits and picked up the victory. Liza McGrath was the loser.

Sugar Senor allowed only two hits, walked one and struck out six to pitch the Hospital to victory. She beat Paula Blume Paula Blume.

Tony's Pizzeria and the Kingston Hospital each disposed of opponenets in the Women's City Softball League with a minimum of effort Thursday night as each chalked up a "stopper" in three and a half innings.

Tony's bombed Holly's Heroes, 22-3, and the Hospital walloped Met Life, 18-1.

Hitting was Tony's method, as 26 hits buried the Heroes. Barbara Cohen homered, who surrendered 14 hits to the ... including Ruth Dhondy's three-bagger and Senor's double. Wendy Lisman tripled for the insurers.

Knights Take Three... Lead SAA 'D' Division

A big come-from-behind victory, a tense one in struggle, and a one-sided laugher have lifted undefeated Knights of Columbus to the lead of the Saugerties Softball League's D Division.

The Knights rallied for 10 runs in the sixth to beat Boo's Tavern, 15-12, scored one in the sixth to edge Orville and Arlene's, 6-5, and picked up a couple in ecah inning to stop Blue Stone Lodge, 11-1.

In other games, Helsmoortel Insurance beat Orville and Arlene's, 9-3, and Orville and Arlene's tripped C & L, 7-3.

Bob Carr drove in three runs with a single and double and John Stapleton slamed a bases-loaded homer as the Knights pounded Boo s. Jim Nolan's two hits and two runs batted in led K of C over Orville and Arlene's. And Chuck Ollinger singled and doubled as the leader knocked off Blue Stone.

Charlie Soltys three-run triple was the big blow as Orville and Arlene's upset C & L.

Rondout, Red Hook Pace All-UCAL

PINE BUSH

Rondout Valley and Red Hook were the only schools to place two starters on the coaches' 1974 All-UCAL Baseball Team. Outfielder Jeff Purcell and catcher Jeff Mahoney were the Gander stars, and outfielder Matt King and third baseman Jim Minkler were the Raider choices. Rondout won the league title this season while Red Hook finished with the best regular season record.

Wallkill's Mark Walther, a senior repeater, and Liberty's Mike Lofaro comprise the pitching staff. Both are righthanders, and Lofaro is one of five juniors on the starting team.

The infield has junior Frank Cricchio of Marlboro at first, senior Terry Patton of Fallsburgh at second, Highland junior Dave Mackey at short and Minkler, a senior, at third. In the outfield are King, a senior, Purcell, a junior, and P. J. Savago of New Paltz, also a senior.

On the second team are Kevin Coughlin of Coleman and Jim Simmons of Red Hook, pitchers; Phil Fanning of Liberty, catcher; Joe McCall of Rondout, first base; Mike McAfee of Wallkill, second base; John Bunt of Marlboro, shortstop; Mario Berry of Liberty, third base; and Marc Blanco of Pine Bush, Norris Gilmore of Fallsburgh and Ray Younger of Ellenville, outfielders.

Walther pitched and batted Wallkill to a Division II championship this season, while Lofaro made similar contributions to Liberty's Division I title chase. Mahoney and Purcell each hit well over .300 to help lift RVC to the league pennant.

King and Minkler were the leading hitters on the UCAL's best hitting team, and Patton held the same distinction for the Comets. Mackey and Criccheo provided their teams this season with leadership as well as performance as each helped to steady an inexperienced club. Savago was a New Paltz mainstay and the league's base stealing champ.

Only 24 spots remain in the field for the third annual Auto Demolition Derby sponsored by the Kingston Community Baseball Association July 6 at Dietz Stadium

Promotors have already received entry blanks from 26 eager drivers including two-time defending champ Ted DeGraff and female pioneer Ora Freer. Only 50 entries will be accepted.

Entry blanks are available at Jim's Atlantic on East Chester St. Admission tickets are being sold on a first-come-first-served basis. There will be no reserved seats sold.

The list of entrants:

Don Fisher, Dennis Leone, Steve Lowe, Bob Benkert, Colonial-Lincoln Mercury, Ted DeGraff, Dave Hughes, Rudy Maisch, Mike Andrews, Ora Freer, Roy Lischinsky, Dan Williams, Tom Jensen, Charlie Potter, Robert Sickler, Garry Hutton, Bill Wolfe, Ray Venuti, Arthur DeGraff, all of Kingston; Lenord Gokey and Kevin Doyle of Saugerties; Manny Sauer and Bill Liese of Connelly; George Montgomery of Bloomington; and Charlie Hummel of Olive Bridge.

HORSE SENSE— No, it's not the latest shoe style for harness horses, but turbulator boots, similar to a miniature whirlpool bath. The horse undergoing the treatment is Mr. Keen, a pacer trained by Joey Belmonte at Saratoga. (UPI)

Marbletown Race Set

MARBLETOWN

The fourth annual Marbletown Road Race, an event which has become a popular fixture on the Fourth of July, will be sponsored again this year by the Marbletown Recreation Department.

The 2.3-mile race starts at the Kripplebush Fire House and follows Pine Bush Road until it reaches the finish line at the Marbletown School.

Two divisional races will be held, one for residents of Marbletown 14 years of age and over and the other an open class for non-residents 14 years of age and older.

Craig Hubbell of Onteora, John Cabell of Kingston, and Steve Schalienkamp of Ulster County Community College were the first three winners of the open division. Cabell set the course record of 11:13 in 1972.

Last year's town division winners were David Walker, Dr. Ted Grenda, and Bill Lyke.

Entry blanks have been sent to local schools. To be officially entered, applications should be returned by June 29. To receive a blank or obtain further information contact Larry Skalla, RD 1, Box 162, Stone Ridge, N. Y., 12484.

Edgar's Win 7-6 on Astrolas' Homer

KINGSTON

Bob Astrolas leaned into a Tom Dingman pitch in the top of the seventh inning at Block Park Thursday night, and that blast, which cleared the wall with a man aboard, carried Edgar's to a 7-6 victory over Potter Brothers in the A Division of the City Slo Pitch League.

In other divisional contests, Artie's Bar disconnected the Telephone Boozers, 8-2, Partner's Lounge wiped out the Boiceville Inn No. 2, 14-10, Hurley Mt. Inn downed H & M TV, 7-4, and Rolling Acres crushed LaLimas, 15-1.

Kevin McGowan had already slammed two homers, and Jesse Caprotti had hit one, but still Edgar's trailed Potter Bros. entering the last frame. Behind a homer by Walt Weber, the Skiers had broken through for five runs in the third inning off the eventual winner, Dave Holly.

Joe Uhl scattered eight hits, one a circuit by Bob Otto, and got plenty of support from his teammates to beat the Boozers. Artie's turned in a strong defensive performance and rapped out 16 hits of its own to deal Frank Young the loss.

John Salapatis, Bruce Beesmer and Jim Beesmer all socked homers to get Partner's Lounge out to an early lead in never lost. Three first inning runs and seven more in the second made it easy on Jim Beesmer and made Bill St. Clair the loser.

Bob Walker belted a pair of home runs and a double in his three trips to the plate to lead the Hurley Mt. Inn squad to victory. Walker had three RBI's while Bill Egan drove in two with a pair of doubles. Arnie Smith reached winner Gene Groelle for a home run as Paul Richers took the loss for H & M.

Rolling Acres jumped right on Pete DeLandy for six quick runs and proceeded to rout LaLima's. Bob Martin hit the only homer of the contest and drove in four runs.

Three Tie at Lake Katrine

ST. REMY

Nick Mauro, Bob Schmedake, and Frank Wiest tied for first in trap with .980 scores at Wednesday night's Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club shoot. Each hit 25 straight targets.

Herb Zaccheo was fourth with .940. He was followed by: Jim Pirro, .933, 25 straight; Bill Burger, .920; Grover Ellsworth Jr., .900; Brian Sawchuck, .880; and Tom Bernadini, .840.

Bernadini led the skeet shooters with a .960 score. Stu Miller was runner-up with .880 and Brian Sawchuck was third with .840.

The next Ulster County Circuit Shoot will be held June 30 at the Mid-Hudson Trap Range in New Paltz.

Talbot Returns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jean-Guy Talbot, who stepped down in February as coach of the National Hockey League's St. Louis Blues because of ill health, will return to coaching duties with Denver of the Western Hockey League, the Blues said Thursday night.

Talbot, 42, who coached the Blues for nearly two seasons, was succeeded the last third of the 1973-74 campaign by Lou Angotti. Talbot previously coached Denver to regular-season and playoff titles in 1971-72.

Tiano Uses 57 Pitches to Win

KINGSTON

Tony Tiano disposed of the Lions Club with 57 pitches over the full six innings to hurl Rondout National Bank to a 5-1 Kingston American Little League victory.

Tiano was nicked for an unearned run in the first but blanked the Lions the rest of the way on three hits. He fanned ten and walked two. Bob Ferraro led the winners' hitting with a double and a pair of RBI's.

In the Town of Ulster loop, Bill Metzger cracked a single in the bottom of the sixth to drive in Brian Borden with the winning run as the Indians clipped the Giants, 4-3.

Borden fired a two-hitter for the victory and slammed a double off loser Bill Sgroi.

The 18-year-old Murphy, who batted .466 for Wilson High School in Portland, will report to the Braves' rookie team at Kingsport, Tenn., of the Appalachian League.

Conn. Slow-Pitch Tourney Is Accepting Applications

NEW MILFORD, Conn.—Promoters of a single-elimination slowpitch softball tournament are now accepting applications from all interested teams.

The tournament has been scheduled here the weekend of July 26-27-28 to help defray medical costs for the captain of the 1973 New Milford Adult Softball champs who was paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a recent accident. All receipts from food sales, contributions, and tournament profits will be donated to a fund set up in his behalf.

Trophies will be awarded to all teams reaching the semi-finals. Entries are limited to 20 teams and scheduling will be drawn to accommodate traveling by out-of town teams.

The entry fee is $25. Applications and related information are available by contacting TViews, Box 487, New Milford, Conn., 06776.

Cleveland Plans Another Special

CLEVELAND (UPI) — "Cleveland Night," an effort to erase the bad publicity hangover stemming from a near-riot on "Beer Night" during the June 4 Cleveland Indians-Texas Rangers game, will welcome the Rangers back for the opener of a three-game series Aug. 16.

The Greater Cleveland Growth Association and the Indians' management have planned the night.

As for more beer nights, the Indians' management has not altered its decision to hold two more this year. Asked about the promotions during Wednesday night's Indians-Chicago White Sox game, American League President Lee MacPhail referred to Milwaukee's practice of handing out coupons limiting each adult to two free beers.

"It seems like that might be the answer," he said. "But we want to see exactly how it works there. A lot will depend upon what happens from here on in."

Handlebar Romps In Women's League

KINGSTON

The Handlebar upped its record to 2-0 in the Kingston Rec Department's Women's Softball League with a 16-6 thrashing of Pretty Pet Parlor at the MJM Field.

In other games, Garden of Eden routed CWA Belles, 20-4, and Mahoney's Pub whipped the Liberty Belles, 24-18.

Handlebar ripped two Pretty Pet pitchers for 18 hits including a pair of doubles by Kathy Longendyke in rolling to its victory. Sari Could and Barbara Naccarato were the big guns with three singles apiece. Jeanette Ferraro's home run was the key clout for Pretty Pet off winning pitcher Barbara Badalato.

A ten-run first inning boosted the Garden of Eden past the CWA Belles. Dianne Armstrong slammed two triples and Mary Rowland, Pam Vitarius, and Lynette Byrd cracked three singles. Debbie Bailey doubled for the Belles.

Helena Phillips homered for Mahoney's as it beat the Liberty Belles. Other details were not reported.

The linescores:

CITY WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

Handlebar	530 500 3	16 18
Pretty Pet	200 202 0	6 12

WP — Barbara Badalato; LP — Kathy Ribinson. HR— Jeanette Ferraro.

Garden of Eden	10 6 0 4	20 24
CWA Belles	2 1 0 1	4 6

WP—Barbara Van Keuren; LP—Pat Humphrey.

Mahoney's Pub, 24; Liberty Belles 18. Boxscore sheet incomplete.

Girls Softball

TOWN OF ULSTER

Jennifer Theiss hurled a one-hit shutout as the Braves blanked the Yankees, 17-0, in the Town of Ulster girls softball league.

Theiss' team cracked 27 hits including four each by Kathy Bload and Sue Acker. Acker had two doubles and a triple.

Other big hitters were Kim Tesore with two doubles and a triple, Marge Miggins with two singles and a double, and Theiss with three singles.

Brenda Mooney's single was the only hit mustered by the Yankees.

• • •

KINGSTON

Sharon Holochuck slammed five hits, including two doubles, from her leadoff position as the Penguins iced the Doves, 22-6, in the Jaycee League.

The Penguins pitching duo of Judith Ford and Brenda Locke scattered seven hits as the winners picked up their second victory in as many outings.

Patricia Albert had a triple and a single while Locke and Sara Sellers had three singles apiece for the Penguins.

Patricia Riester and Karen Grimaldi had a pair of hits each in defeat.

Gail DeMasi was the losing pitcher.

Notice of Publication of Summary of Grant Application of the State of New York as Prime Sponsor for the Balance of New York State for Financial Assistance under Title I of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 and the Summer 1974 Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth.

Pursuant to the requirements of the U.S. Department of Labor rules and regulations for grant applications under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, the State of New York has prepared the following summary of its application for publication at the time of its submission.

The State of New York is seeking financial assistance under Title I of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act in order to be able to provide employment and job opportunities for unemployed, underemployed and economically disadvantaged residents of the Balance of State area who have the greatest need for assistance in ultimately securing a job which pays a living wage.

The Balance of State area is defined as the following counties, Cayuga, Chenango, Clinton, Columbia, Cortland, Delaware, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Genesee, Greene, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Livingston, Madison, Montgomery, Ontario, Orleans, Otsego, Schoharie, Schuyler, Seneca, Steuben, Sullivan, Tioga, Tompkins, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming, and Yates.

Against a planning allocation by the U.S. Department of Labor of $8,553 thousand for program year 1975, the State of New York has submitted its application for financial assistance which calls for:

$748 thousand for classroom training to serve 252 persons with skill training designed to meet the entry requirements of skilled jobs which pay wages above the minimum wage.

$1,084 thousand for employer sponsored on-the-job training programs which will serve 1,369 persons. These funds will be used to reimburse extra-ordinary training costs of private employers who will pay a wage to the trainees.

$5,163 thousand for work experience projects to provide wages and services to 3,271 persons who need to establish work habits and gain general skills to become better equipped to compete for available jobs.

$89 thousand for general services to clients such as medical examinations and transportation.

$56 thousand for special direct job placement activities which will serve 1,800 persons.

RIDE FOR THE ALLIGATOR — With his tail hanging out of the rear of the truck, this 8-foot alligator gets a ride to a new home inside the St. Louis Zoo. The keepers have to use all the muscle power they have and some tape around the giant mouth of the alligator to keep from getting caught between his sharp teeth. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Calley . . . 'Just Another Prisoner'

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William Calley, ordered back into military custody Thursday by a federal judge, was issued nondescript fatigues and spent the night in the post stockade, marking only the second night he has been behind bars since his My Lai murder conviction in 1971.

U.S. Assistant Attorney Charles Erion said the former platoon leader would be treated "just like any other prisoner... (and) put in a jail cell."

But Kenneth Henson, one of Calley's attorneys, said his client had, in effect, been put in solitary confinement.

John Gause, public information officer at the sprawling infantry training center, said the 30-year-old Miami native would be allowed recreational periods and provided access to books and a television set.

Calley carried his briefcase solemnly into the stockade to prepare for another hearing Monday before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott on the appeal of his conviction of murdering 22 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet in 1968.

If Calley must be confined, his attorneys would rather see him sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

"As far as we're concerned, the quicker they (military authorities) take him and process him at Ft. Leavenworth, the better off he will be," Henson said.

Calley surrendered two minutes before the 3 p.m. deadline. He was ushered into the stockade 10 minutes later.

The masonry facility, ringed by a 10-foot high fence topped with barbed wire, had been Calley's residence for one night just after his 1971 court martial conviction. After a public outcry, President Nixon ordered Calley be held in his quarters under house arrest until the appeals process ended.

Calley had been freed under a $1,000 personal recognizance bond since January until a three-judge panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans revoked the bond and ordered Calley returned to prison.

Attorneys for Calley have since asked all of the 15 judges on the appeals court to review the decision while also appealing the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Security Arrest

William J. Lengyel, 18, of Peak Road, Stone Ridge, was charged with Petit larceny Thursday night when Britt's security personnel apprehended him after he allegedly left the store with a record album valued at $9.97. The youth was nabbed shortly before 9 p. m. in the parking lot at Kingston Plaza.

READYING FOR SUMMER — Richard Smith, associate professor of earth science at Ulster County Community College, aligns an eight-inch telescope he will us in an Earth Science I course to be taught this summer on the Stone Ridge campus. Students in the six-week course will have an opportunity to view some of the planets, the moon and more distant objects. Other topics will also be covered. Registration for this and other summer sessions will be held today.

Your Astrograph

Saturday, June 22

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be on stage today wherever you go. You'll feel like you're the center of attention, and you will be.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is one of your creative days, where making basic domestic changes is concerned. Looks like the furniture will be rearranged again.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're at your communicative best today. Plan something exciting to soothe your restless nature. How about having some friend in?

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're most imaginative in handling material or financial transactions. I'd hate to be the one you're striking a bargain with today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There's more power than you realize behind your example. Put your best foot forward so those imitating you have something to aim for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In order to function your best today you have to be left to your own devices. Set your own pace.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Through a present acquaintance you'll meet someone who's enthusiasm and ideas will stimulate you. Get to know this person better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A goal that you are pressing for only needs a little more effort and imagination to be realized. Keep going.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 Dec. 21) You have the power today to sway others to your way of thinking. Don't waste it on trivia. Sell 'em something important.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You've gained the confidence of someone who will pull a few strings for you to get you something you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Let your mate or partner assume the more aggressive role where you share joint interests. They're a bit bolder than you today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Put that extra energy you have to a productive use. A good time to catch up on back work the boss has been asking for.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEVER: (Q.) I've known Johnny for two solid years. We're not going around but we love each other. I'm 17. He's 18. My mom knows him and approves of him. But my dad is another story.

He wants to keep me and my sisters isolated, or something. Up to this moment I have never gone out with Johnny or anybody else. How can I tell my dad about Johnny?—Afraid in Texas.

(A.) It is the duty of parents to talk to their sons or daughters about the facts of life. But when parents refuse to face the facts, or even talk about them, sons and daughters must take action themselves.

Sit down with your father and talk to him about the facts of dating in your community, about what 17-year-olds and 18-year-olds you know do. Tell him you are missing out on life and it is hurting you. Talk to him about Johnny.

The first time you do this won't be easy. And your father may seem unchangd. But keep at it. You will eventually win, because you are in the right.

HE GOT MAD: (Q.) I loved Linda very much but she was messing around with this other guy. I got mad and wouldn't forgive her. I should have. She apologized over and over.

Well, now she likes a different guy and I still love her. What can I do?—Not Mad Now in Wisconsin.

(A.) You can apologize to her.

Even if it is too late to get Linda back, it will make you feel better about her and yourself.

South wasted no time with the play of what he considered an elementary hand. That is he wasted no time at the start.

He ruffed the second spade and started after trumps. If trumps had broken 3-3 everything would have been fine, but when East showed out on the third lead South saw that his contract was in jeopardy. He thought awhile; drew the last trump and tried a club finesse. It lost and East was able to lead a spade to give his partner three spade tricks and set South two.

"I guess I should have settled for down one," remarked South. "Every card is always wrong for me."

Every card was wrong. Trumps broke 4-2. East held the king of clubs and a third spade, but South should have made the hand. If he had stopped to think at trick two instead of ruffing the second spade, he should have discarded a club.

South would ruff the third spade and play the hand exactly the same way, but there would be a decided difference at the end. When East took his king of clubs he would not have a spade to lead to his partner and South would bring home the bacon.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

An editorial entitled "Squandering the Public Domain" which appeared in the 1872 World Almanac charged that western railroads received millions of acres of choice land at the expense of homesteaders. To encourage construction of transcontinental railways, Congress gave railroad companies free land through government grants.

Mideast Aid Pacts to Cost Billions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bill for economic and military aid agreements President Nixon made during his Middle East trip isn't in yet, but it is sure to run into the billions of dollars over a period of years.

During his journey Nixon committed the United States to a series of long term aid programs, including one, for Egypt, that runs into the 1980s.

Exactly how much they will cost may only become known over a period of years as annual administration aid requests to Congress are made public. The White House has given no cost figure for the package.

Among the programs announced in White House documents during the trip:

— Egypt: The President agreed to "help strengthen the financial structure of Egypt"; sell Egypt a major new nuclear energy program for peaceful purposes; provide space technology, which White House spokesmen said means satellite communications; participate in the reconstruction and development of the Suez Canal and the cities along its banks, and provide "the latest agricultural technology."

—Israel: Mr. Nixon committed the United States to continuing long-term arms deliveries to "substantial economic assistance . . . at levels needed to assist Israel to offset the heavy additional costs" of maintaining its military establishment. The Israelis will also get nuclear reactors, space technology, a water desalination project and U.S. help in assuring a continued flow of oil and raw materials.

—Jordan: The President announced no immediate new commitments, but the communique said he had "explained in detail" the administration's current aid request to Congress for military and economic assistance and "promised a special effort by the U.S. government to provide support in a variety of ways for Jordan's development efforts."

— Syria: "President Hafez Asad and I have agreed that our governments will review and develop further concrete ways in which the United States and Syria can work more closely for their mutual benefit," Nixon said. "A senior Syrian official will visit Washington in the near future to discuss specific plans to accomplish this goal."

—Saudi Arabia: "His Majesty (King Faisal) and I have also reviewed the efforts by the United States to assist Saudi Arabia in maintaining its defense forces," the President commented. The two countries had agreed the week before to set up a new joint economic commission.

Israeli sources said during Nixon's visit that the Jerusalem government is looking for something on the order of $1.5 billion a year in military aid alone. A report from Jerusalem Thursday said the Israelis are hoping the United States can pick up about half the $17 billion foreign exchange deficit they expect to run in the next four years. That would mean at least an extra $500 million in economic aid annually.

OAR SUPPORT—Former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Gov. Dan Evans provided at least part of the oar support in a trip across Tulalip Bay in Everett, Wash., during scheduled events officially opening the 1974 Snohomish County Republican campaign. Over 500 people paid $25 apiece to later attend an authentic Indian salmon bake by the Tulalip Tribe. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Israeli Raids Bring Syrian Warning

By United Press International

Syria warned today it would not tolerate new Israeli air raids against southern Lebanon, but Israel vowed to continue its campaign to wipe out Palestinian guerrilla bases.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said the Israeli and Arab positions on a peace settlement were so wide apart that negotiations now were impossible.

In Damascus, a Syrian official said his government would not stay neutral in the Israeli air attacks in south Lebanon.

"Syria will not remain with its hands folded in the face of the barbaric shellings by Israel against innocent civilians in southern Lebanon and hopes that other Arab countries will also shoulder their responsibilities," the official said.

The official, however, did not elaborate on any action planned by the government. Israel and Syria are only five days away from a complete troop pullback in the Golan Heights.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli foreign ministry said the attacks against guerrilla targets was part of a continuing policy intended to "hit the organizations which initiate the murder of Israeli civilians and to foil their schemes."

Rabin said Thursday more time was necessary to test Egyptian and Syrian intentions before peace talks could begin.

"Obviously we can wish for nothing better than to move forward to negotiations that will lead to peace and security," he said in a speech before 500 leaders of the Jewish Agency.

"But, regretably, there are signs that this is not possible at the present time," Rabin said.

"If Egypt and Syria will concentrate their efforts on reconstruction and peaceful development, the message will not be lost on us. The onus is on them."

In Israel's latest air attacks Thursday, the heaviest action against Lebanon in a month, Palestinian guerrilla officials said 27 persons were killed and 94 wounded, including women and children and members of the Palestine Red Crescent Society — the equivalent of the Red Cross.

The Israeli military command said the attacks retaliated for a guerrilla attack on the frontier settlement of Shamir that killed three women and the four raiders during President Nixon's Middle East tour.

Lebanese Prime Minister Takeoddine Solh held separate meetings in Beirut with the ambassadors of the big five powers and Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat to discuss the air raids.

Nixons Relax on Their 34th

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, midway through a whirlwind diplomatic effort in the face of threatened impeachment, set aside time to relax with his wife at Camp David today on their 34th wedding anniversary.

White House officials said Nixon probably would remain at the Maryland retreat through the weekend to rest up after his rigorous Middle East trip and to get ready for summit talks next week with Soviet leaders in Moscow and meetings with U.S. allies at NATO headquarters in Brussels.

The First Family planned a small party later today to mark the Nixons' wedding anniversary. Tricia Cox was with her parents at Camp David, and daughter Julie, along with her husband David Eisenhower, were expected to be on hand for the occassion.

But before leaving Washington early Thursday evening, Nixon put in a hectic day at conferences with congressional leaders, Cabinet members and the National Security Council to brief them on his 10-day visit to five Middle East nations and to discuss his upcoming negotiations with NATO leaders and Soviet officials.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Nixon assured the members of Congress that no secret U.S.-Soviet agreements have been made prior to his Moscow trip. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said earlier this week he feared the administration had already arrived at a nuclear arms agreement without telling Congress.

Mansfield and Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott said Nixon also assured the congressional group that agreements he made during his recent trip to provide Israel and Egypt with nuclear power plants would have adequate safeguards attached to prevent use of reactors or nuclear fuel for weapons purposes.

But assistant Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia told reporters: "I sometimes wonder why we provide these nuclear reactors which are for the purpose of developing peaceful uses of atomic energy when we ourselves have not been very successful in this area."

The President is scheduled to fly to Brussels Tuesday and to arrive in Moscow Thursday for wide ranging talks likely to focus heavily on trade and arms control.

White House spokesmen have maintained repeatedly that Nixon's decision to undertake important foreign policy activities at this time was made without regard to his domestic political problems, especially the House Judiciary Committee's investigation into possible grounds for his impeachment.

But some presidential aides have acknowledged privately that the timing was perfect and that they expect Nixon's popularity at home to start rising as a result of his attempts to play the part of a world statesman in search of peace.

Easy Housing Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the nation experiences its worst housing slump in decades, the House has overwhelmingly passed an $11.3 billion housing and community development bill.

By a 351-25 vote, the largest for any housing bill in recent history showed a near-unanimous desire to funnel new monies into hard-strapped cities and to get housing programs for the poor moving again.

Although the bill would leave dormant the subsidized construction programs the Nixon administration froze 18 months ago and would transfer the emphasis to leased housing for the poor, other sections in it were designed to stimulate the home financing industry and thus help the over-all housing industry.

"It's a good, modest bill," said House Speaker Carl Albert after the vote. "I think it's as good as we could get through that would be signed

In a series of surprise votes on amendments offered by Republicans, the House attached two significant amendments to help the elderly and order the government to start spinning off its huge backlog of repossessed houses for "urban homesteaders" for rehabilitation.

One amendment, by Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., would revive a popular direct loan program for construction of housing for the elderly. The Nixon administration stopped the program in 1969.

Steele said the $1.5-billion revolving loan fund would provide for construction of 72,000 units specially designed for needs of the elderly.

When previously operated, the loans were offered to builders at 3 per cent interest. The Steele amendment calls for the interest to be adjusted to whatever the actual cost of the money to the government, which is at least double that.

Another amendment easily approved, offered by Rep. William M. Ketchum, R-Calif., would give the elderly a rent break by allowing them to deduct future increases in Social Security payments from the gross income.

The bill had provided for a minimum rent of 10 per cent of the gross income of elderly tenants in leased housing programs.

The homesteading amendment by Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., was similar to one that Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., had tried unsuccessfully to attach on the bill in committee.

It requires the Housing and Urban Development Department to resell repossessed homes for a token fee to urban homesteaders.

In some cities with experimental homesteading programs, the surplus houses are sold for as little as $1. In others, the sale price ranges up to $30,000.

The Holt amendment would require the homesteaders to occupy the single-dwelling houses for a minimum of five years and to bring them up to building code standards.

Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., said homesteading has brought a racial mix for the first time to Baltimore's blighted areas.

The bulk of the bill's money, about $8.3 billion, will go to big cities, urban counties and rural areas for community development.

Tax Reform Vote Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Democrats likely will see the last gasp of their efforts to pass a tax reform package early next week.

A vote is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. EDT Monday on a tax package sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., which would lower individual income taxes slightly and end several business tax breaks including the oil depletion allowance.

But conservatives led by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., have maneuvered the liberals into almost certain defeat because the vote will be on the whole liberal reform package, not on each separate part.

While many senators would vote for parts of the package, such as a tax cut, enough of them oppose the package as a whole to ensure its defeat.

Allen and his GOP allies have managed to thwart every liberal move so far, and even brought ailing Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., to the Senate floor Thursday from Bethesda Naval Hospital where he is recovering from a mild stroke.

Cotton was brought in to ensure a liberal defeat on a parliamentary vote which would have allowed the tax package to be split up. That move, which failed 47 to 45, would have tabled the amendment Allen has used as a vehicle to obstruct the tax measures.

The Allen amendment, ironically, is likely to pass with liberal support if it ever comes to a vote. It would cut the pending House passed increase in the national debt ceiling by $5 billion, down to a total ceiling of $490 billion.

Liberals are attempting to attach their amendments to the debt ceiling bill because it is considered "veto-proof." It must become law by midnigh June 30 or the government wil no longer be able to borrow money to pay its bills.
